Decision pending for Crystal Commons

Board of Appeals expected to make a decision on Monday

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - Crystal Commons will once again take center stage during the upcoming Board of Appeals meeting on Monday, March 20th. This may very well be, however, Crystal Commons' final such appearance as the Board is expected to take action on the proposed affordable housing development.

Crystal Commons is a 108-unit condominium development slated for construction at 10 Burlington Avenue on the 11.5-acre site that had once been the home of the Diamond Crystal manufacturing plant. The proposal had, until recently, consisted of two three-story buildings containing a total of 100 condominiums, plus eight townhouses set along Floradale Avenue.

The newest proposal has done away with the townhouse component, but still shows a total of 108 units. By doing away with several two-bedroom units in favor of one-bedroom units, and reconfiguring floor plans, the developer was able to fit 108 units into the two main buildings without substantially increasing the size of either building and without losing any of the architectural features of the previous plan. Additionally, the buildings will be situated slightly further back on the property, away from Burlington Avenue, than had previously been shown.

Town Counsel is reviewing the Order of Conditions for the property and will provide a final draft of the document in time for Monday's

Wilmington Middle School students, Adele Musicant and Amanda Hollenbeck, both 8th graders are selling bracelets they made out of parachute chord and a military button. They have been working on this "Support the Troops" project, as a leadership project for National Jr. Honor Society, inc October, 2005. A local air force reservist, MIke Hamlet, started making these while overseas as a symbol of support and remembrance. All proceeds from the sale are used to purchase supplies for the troops. The girls have gotten a few volunteers to help out with making and selling the 1,000 bracelets including their sisters, Elise Musicant and Robin Hollenbeck. Selectman candidate clears the air regarding a 2003 incident

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - George Lingenfelter, one of four candidates for selectman this year, is a lifelong resident of Wilmington. He went through the Wilmington public school system and is now raising his own family in his hometown. He is proud of the service he gave the community as a member of the Citizens Advisory Panel (CAP), a committee consisting of residents and town officials charged with reviewing water quality issues, particularly in the areas surrounding Olin and Maple Meadow, from its inception in 2002 through to its disbanding in 2005. He is proud not to have missed a single CAP meeting and to have been a part of the subcommittee that hired environmental consulting firm of GeoInsight as technical advisor to the town.

"Hiring GeoInsight was the best thing the town has done recently," Lingenfelter said.

In 2003, he had a run-in with Wilmington's Board of Health.

In July of 2003, Lingenfelter brought a chicken carcass into Town Hall and deposited it on the counter of the Health Department. The chicken, according to Lingenfelter, had been killed by a coyote.

According to a letter written to Lingenfelter, and signed by Wilmington Director of Health, Gregory Erickson, "The Board (of Health) wishes to express to you how improper your actions were with regard to bringing a bag of chicken parts, feathers, and feces to the office of the Board of Health and to dump the contents on the public counter in the office. You did this in the presence of the Building Inspector and the Building and Health Department staff and citizens who were at the office for the purpose of conducting official business. The area needed to be cleaned and disinfected after you left."

The letter further states that, though there is normally a $300 fine applicable for such an act,

We'll miss Kay Scanlon

Community to wish her well at the Casa di Fior on March 30th

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - There will be a great many fond farewells to Kathleen (Kay) Scanlon as she wraps up a satisfying 37-year career with the town on March 31st. It's been a long road for Wilmington's beloved Town Clerk, with far more ups than downs.

She grew up in Wilmington, the daughter of Deputy Police Chief Francis "Nifty" Hoban. Following her graduation from Wilmington High School, Kay went to work for New England Mutual in Boston, but within a couple of years she began a high-flying career as a flight attendant. Kay believes that the job was far more glamorous back then, than it is today. At that time, a flight from Boston to Florida took 5-hours. Since flight attendants were not permitted to work more than eight hours a day, they had no choice but to remain overnight in sunny Florida.

"We had wonderful long layovers all the time," Kay recalls. "Fight attendants work much harder today."

In 1959 Kay Hoban met the love of her life in, what some may consider, the unlikeliest of circumstances. Kay's good friend Shirley Callan set her up on a blind date with a young man from Wakefield by the name of Richard "Dick" Scanlon.

Kay Scanlon is looking forward to retirement, but no one is looking forward to seeing her go. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Their first date was in June of 1959. They were married in June of 1960. For obvious reasons Kay encourages young people not to shy away from blind dates.

"Be sure you go on that blind date," Kay advises. "You never know, you may end up meeting your soul-mate. It happened for me."

Her days lounging in Florida were over as of 1960. She stayed home to raise a family of four children - 3 boys and a girl in five years - while Dick went on to become one of the most beloved teachers and athletic coaches in Wilmington High School history.

In 1969, Kay went to work part-time for the town as a clerk for the Board of Appeals

Our continuing coverage of the Wilmington Police-sponsored "Citizens Drug Recognition Academy"

The prescription and OTC drug problem

It's not just out on the street. What about your own medicine cabinet?

By VICTORIA ELLSWORTH

WILMINGTON - You already know about the dangers of illegal street drugs like marijuana, cocaine, and methamphetamine. But did you know that some teens are abusing legal products like cough medicine, to get high?

Building upon information provided in Session 1 of the Citizens' Drug Recognition Academy (Plant-based drugs), Marilyn Belmonte, co-chair of the Burlington Drug and Alcohol Task Force, presented the current facts about prescription and over-the-counter drug abuse.

"Most of what Marilyn speaks about we've already seen," states Deputy Police Chief Robert Richter. "It's out there and it's in Wilmington."

The latest annual study on teen drug use from the Partnership for a Drug-Free America reports that an alarming number of teenagers are abusing a variety of prescription and over-the-counter (OTC) medications to get high. These medications can be abused in a number of ways many similar to the methods street drugs are used.

Here are a few startling statistics:

- 1 in 5 teens abuse prescription drugs - a higher rate than those abusing street drugs.
- 1 in 11 teens abuse over the counter medications.

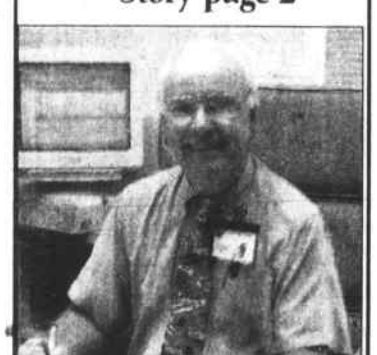

Prescription Drugs

The reasons behind prescription drug abuse are similar to those stated for illegal street drugs. Personal or family related stress is a major reason. Sources of the drugs include: preservation of those

Fathers getting involved at the North

North Intermediate Dads Group springs into action

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

WILMINGTON - Sledding party without snow? No problem.

Picnic area without tables? Not any more.

The North Intermediate Dads' Group is turning 'boys will be boys' into a really good thing, and school wish-lists into 'bench'mark opportunities.

"The Dads' Group goal is to have fun with the kids at the North Intermediate School," said Chris Coakley, the contact person for Wilmington's not-so-old-boy network.

"We also try to make a little money that can be used by the school to make things a little better for kids, teachers, parents, and the town," Coakley said. "My guess on how it got started is that it's related to the fact that most dads would love to be more involved, but it's difficult to help out during school hours."

In this case, his story is her story, too. Five years ago, when Michele Nortonen became North Intermediate principal, she invited parents to an open house to meet her, spoke about her vision for the school and what she'd like to implement, based on past successes in other school districts where she'd been a principal.

"I talked about the correlation between student success and parent involvement and suggested a vehicle - called 'The Dads' Group' - for dads to get more physically involved," Nortonen said. "I had a sign-up sheet available and by the end of the meeting, about half a dozen names appeared on it."

She called each person, invited him to a meeting, and suggested he bring a friend. "And the rest," she said, "is history."

At her other schools, the gyms had been open, so after each monthly meeting, the guys got together to shoot hoops.

"That was a real hook," said Nortonen. "Unfortunately, our court is already rented out, but that hasn't stopped our dads from participating in a very active way. Membership in the group is fluid, mainly because the kids are here only two years. The dads understand that like any organization, they don't have to

Ares serves the Titans well at FIRST Competition

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Memorial High School Titans Robotics Club competed in the BAE/Granite State Regional FIRST Robotics Competition in Manchester, NH, Friday and Saturday, March 3-4. After the preliminary seeding matches the Titans and their robot "Ares" were ranked 5th out of the 52 teams competing. In the final elimination matches the Titans and their alliance partners from Pembroke, NH, and West Hills, CA, were knocked out by the eventual champions from Rockland and Standish, ME, and Milford, NH.

FIRST brings engineering mentors from industry, in the Titan's case from Raytheon's Integrated Defense Systems, together with high school students to design and build a robot to compete in a unique and challenging game. 33 regional competitions are held throughout the United States and Europe and Israel with over 1,100 high school teams competing. The goal of the competition is to inspire students to pursue careers in science and engineering. Graduates from TMHS and the Titans are now studying engineering and science at WPI, RPI, Northeastern, BC and other colleges.

See www.usfirst.org and www.tewksburytitans.com for more information and photos of the FIRST competition, the Titans, and Ares the robot.

It's Your Money

WHAT KIND OF DEDUCTION?

Almost every deduction on your tax return is worthwhile, but some are worth more than others. The most valuable are those entered "above the line," those that reduce adjusted gross income.

Many deductions have a "floor" derived from the AGI. Medical expenses, for instance, are deductible insofar as they exceed 7.5 percent of AGI. Casualty losses, outside of special situations, are deductible where they exceed 10 percent of AGI, and miscellaneous expenses have a floor of 2 percent. So every $1,000 deducted above the line saves $75, $100 or $20 on such deductions. In addition, personal exemptions are tied to AGI, as are other items on your return. Above-the-line deductions include IRA and other retirement plan contributions, student loan interest, health insurance costs for self-employed, and such.

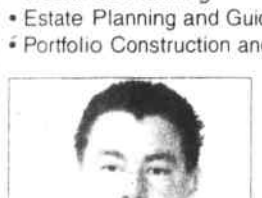

Better than any deductions, of course, are credits that cut taxes directly, dollar for dollar. Use them where you can.

When it comes to taxes, come to the people who can help you find every possible saving. See us at:

Solution to cell tower

To the Tewksbury Planning Board Members:

First let me commend the conservation Committee for protecting ten feet of swamp in the wet land area, which assured that there was no space, at the South Street Fire Station, for a cell tower.

The Planning Board was to look for an available peice of land to place the shed and at that time, a flag pole behind the structure. For a reason, yet to be explained by this board, would you please now explain why you chose to destroy the intersection which had a working 20 foot sculpture fountain, honoring fire fighters and a beautiful garden, which was financially cared for by members of the Tewksbury Garden Club, for the last fourteen years.

As elected board members you should be committed to first respect and work for the citizens and local taxpayers in this town. Why did you deliberately destroy the intersection of Route 38 and South Street in South Tewksbury?

Through this intersection people pass from No. Wilmington, Reading, Billerica and Andover as well as town folks from State, Brown, McClaren Road and the many streets branching off these roads. You were voted into office and tusted to do what was good for the town. You have disappointed the people.

There is a solution to every mistake.

You and all involved should be held accountable.

Find a suitable, obscured site for the shed and smokestack.

Reclaim the garden and fountain to its original park, which the town accepted graciously from donors, buisness corporations, private industries, family members, former fire fighters, volunteer fire fighters, from the past well known good-living South Tewksbury citizens, hoping to finally have something to be proud of in their neighborhood, and last but not least - the Methodist Church across the street (which has been part of this community since 1911).

Recover the site and all will be forgiven.

Proud to be a
South Tewksbury
resident since 1924

Angered and saddened

Dear Editor,

At first we were angry, but then anger fades away and you become saddened. My wife has lived in Wilmington her whole life and my family moved here when I was five years old. We are both in our late fifties, so I guess you can say we qualify as "Townies".

We, like a lot of people in town, have a cemetery plot at Wildwood Cemetery where we have family members buried. My mother-in-law and father-in-law are buried there and more recently we lost our son and he is buried there. There has always been some vandalism at our gravesite like losing flowers, flags and wreaths etc. But as of last week it has become almost unbearable, everything at our gravesite was stolen. Our grandchildren's, as well as our own, little things in remembrance of their father and our son have been stolen. There is nothing more heartbreaking than to see your grandchild's face when they find out that some little toy they used to play with their father with, or their father gave them has been stolen. WHAT I WANT TO KNOW IS WHAT KIND OF LOW LIFE PEOPLE DO THIS! ! IT IS JUST UNBELIEVABLE HOW LOW PEOPLE CAN BE, THEY MUST HAVE NO CONSCIENCE AT ALL.

I plead with people that are regulars down at the cemetery to report anything suspicious to the police.

Right on target

Dear Editor,

I have read most of Anthony Ferrara's past articles as The Family Therapist and find them incisive, intelligent, and to the point; however, his last article was unusually incisive and worthy of everyone's attention and scrutiny. While he made several extremely well thoughts out points, I would like to just emphasize two of the most important ones. His article concerned the reaction of the large number of Moslems around the world to the publication of the cartoons defaming the muslim prophet, Mohammed. First, he refers to the world press' insistence on the their right and "obligation" to print these in the name of freedom of speech and the press. He rightly states that "all the unrest and suffering are far more important than the right of an individual expressing his thoughts on their religion on paper. This is a great injustice hidden under the freedom of expression." A much wiser man than I once said that a "right" has a much higher calling than to be simply insisted upon.

His second point butresses the first but, is even more to the point in which he states, "Some religious people have nothing but their god. They don't have the abundance of food and luxuries we enjoy. Many don't have enough food to feed their children. In all religions there are many individuals who have only their god to love, respect and depend on. To ridicule their god is to mock their very existence. Demeaning their one hope of salvation is indeed overwhelming." Again, this brings up the point that insisting upon a so called right (although legal) is not always worth the cost.

I think we would all do well to consider Anthony's wise words.

This and That

by Maria Harrison

I had the unique experience this week of having a satellite dish installed at my home. My daughter and her husband were so excited at the prospect of us having over a hundred channels to choose from. My son-in-law took the day off so that he could be here when the "big dish" came. The night before, we talked about all the channels we were going to have and how I could watch all the old TV shows like "The Andy Griffith Show" to my hearts content. My father and I were very excited at the prospect of all the channel choices.

My daughter called the satellite people while I was at work and set up the time. The satellite people said they would be here the next day between one and five in the afternoon. At seven-thirty that night and after four phone calls, they told us they would have to reschedule for the next day. "Fine," my son-in-law fumed, " O.K., but if your guy is here one minute past one tomorrow, you can keep your damn satellite dish!"

Needless to say, he was here exactly at 1:00 p.m. At 8:00 p.m., Jim, the lone "satellite guy", was still here, climbing ladders, drilling holes and winding yards of wire throughout the house. At around 9:30 p.m.,the job was finally finished.

My dad and I listened patiently as my son-in-law held up a remote that looked a lot like a light phaser from Star Trek and explained how to work the zillion buttons. My Dad cocked his head to one side and made a face. Right off, I knew Dad was in trouble and I wasn't too far behind him.

The remote laid still in the middle of the kitchen table waiting for my Dad or me to pick it up. My son-in-law had gone upstairs to catch up on some old episodes of the Sopranos. Dad and I stared at the remote. I couldn't help but think of the time my late husband and I heard him calling from the T.V. room downstairs. There was no cable, just two remotes, one for the T.V. and one for the DVD.

"Will somebody come down here? I can't get this damn thing to turn on!" He yelled up the stairs.

My husband went down stairs and was back up about two minutes later, shaking his head and laughing.

"Good thing I went down stairs," he said. "You're Dad was trying to turn the T.V. on with the portable phone."

I knew we were in trouble. My electronic expertise is just a smidgen above my Dad's.

Dad looked at the remote and then at me. Then he got up and went into his bedroom to try his own remote in private on his own T.V. At age 88, he wasn't about to let a silly remote label him "electrically challenged."

Just as I was getting the hang of going through the channels and coming to the realization that we didn't get half of the channels that were on the menu, I heard my Dad's voice getting higher and louder by the minute.

"What the hell is the matter with this thing? For crying out loud...x&%$##@"

"Dad, now what's the matter?"

"This damn thing doesn't work!" He sounded absolutely fit to be tied.

I went into the room and there he was, sitting on his bed pointing the wrong end of the remote toward the T.V.

"Dad, turn the remote around!" I laughed.

Dad looked surprised as he turned the remote right side toward the T.V.

"My eyes aren't what they used to be, you know." A slight grin passed over his face.

I chuckled as I left the room knowing full well, that as soon as I was out of sight, my Dad would take out his crossword book and do at least two complete word crosswords and a cryptogram or two while lying in bed. So much for poor eyesight.

One good thing about all this - I now spend many hours in Mayberry.

Letters to the editor

Disappointed in Town Crier

Dear Editor,

I am very disappointed in the Town Crier.

I have received several inquiries asking me if I am supporting Mr. Jay Tighe, one of the candidates for this year's Board of Selectmen's race. Of course, every person that has asked me stated "well it was in the Town Crier in the Cheers and Jeers section." My response: " That doesn't mean it is true and do not believe everything you read or hear." How can a newspaper maintain a credible reputation when they foster rumors and unsubstantiated facts?

The Town Crier never even called and asked me if this was faet or fiction. I bet this never would have been published if it were about Mr. Newhouse. To allow a lie to be printed with no name attached makes it even less tolerable! It is bad enough that the Town Crier adopts the "Name Withheld Upon Request" policy in its letters/editorial section, allowing cowards to hide behind misstatements and personal insults. But now it has expanded this dishonorable practice to its Cheers and Jeers section where this lie was nurtured. I wonder, what is the motivation of the Town Crier and where does it see its responsibility in allowing perceptions to be manipulated for others' political gain, by often nameless factions? The reporting in last week's paper regarding the Maple Meadow Landfill lawsuit also leaves more questions of grave concern like this and most likely will be another subject to which I am left with no option but to comment. I do not seek to get into a back and forth with the man that wields the pen. I ask the editor not to abuse the power of the pen and to be fair. I do not want to have to help you sell newspapers by responding to continued innuendos and lies printed about me.

Call me old school, but I thought newspapers were to report the news, not create the news. Some say perception is everything and it appears the Town Crier is working very hard to create perceptions. I have the utmost respect for our freedom of speech. In fact, I encourage people to speak out more often. Opinions about issues, however, is not the subject here. The Town Crier's responsibility to the profession and to its readers is not well served by printing nameless unsubstantiated facts leaving the reader to wonder what is being printed is fact or fiction and whether or not the opinion they may form is based in fact or fiction.

The actual truth is, I am not supporting any candidate this year. I worked on campaigns three years in a row. I'm taking this one off. I will say however, one individual I will not be voting for, and that is the town employee running for a Selectman's seat. It is illogical to me how an employee of the Town Manager can be his supervisor. I'm left wondering whose interest this would serve? I believe that this is actually a conflict of interest, and should be given serious consideration by the residents since whoever wins this race will decide on the next appointment of the Town Manager in three years, or any issue that would arise concerning the Town Manager's employment.

There was a case in Wareham where the Town Counsel ruled on a conflict of interest of a full time police officer negotiating the Town Manager's contract. This can be viewed at http://www.s-t.com/daily/03-96/03-09-96/1renew.htm.

It states on this website: "A five-page letter by attorney Leonard Kopelman of the Boston firm Kopelman and Paige, said Mr. Sylvester is prohibited from participating in the re-appointment or re-negotiation of the town administrator's contract because he is a full-time police officer in town. Mr. Kopelman cited a case considered by the State Ethics Commission involving a teacher who serves as a selectman in another community. Because the town manager in that community participates in teacher negotiations, the selectman cannot participate in the town manager's contract 'since it will determine whether or not the Town Manager continues to participate in the union negotiations which in turn will affect your own financial interest'."

So there you have it, my official position on the upcoming election. Any other "factual errors" printed in the Town Crier or generated by rumor, whether it has a name to it or not, should be disregarded if it does not reflect what I have stated above. I'd ask for an apology from the Editor for printing faceless rumors about me but I'm sure we all know what the odds are of that ever happening.

I am also sending this letter to the Advocate because one phone call I received was from a non-Crier reader who heard the rumor cited below which was fostered in the Town Crier. I want to make sure the record is set straight once and for all.

Suzanne M. Sullivan

(editor's note: Ms. Sullivan is referring to a reader submission that appeared within the "Your Two Cents" opinion board section of the Town Crier's March 1, 2006. The submission stated clearly that the reader had "heard" that Selectman Sullivan was endorsing a particular candidate. In no way did the Town Crier report that Selectman Sullivan was endorsing any particular candidate. However, the Town Crier does apologize for any undo distress experienced by Selectman Sullivan, or any confusion experienced by our readers, as a direct result of the above stated submission. The concept behind Your Two Cents is not at all uncommon within the newspaper industry, but it is new to the Town Crier - we will continue to review our policies and procedures relating to Your Two Cents in an effort to avoid similar incidents in the future.

Incidentally, the officer involved in the case mentioned by Ms. Sullivan was cleared of any wrongdoing by the State Ethics Commission, according to the same source cited above, according to www.s-t.com/daily/05-96/05-29-96/b05lo085.htm.

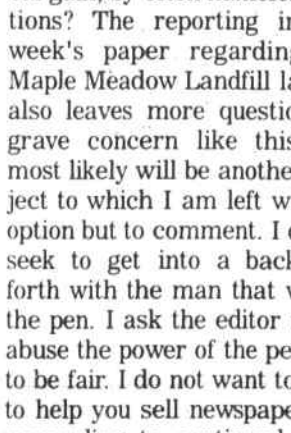

The Town Crier stands behind last week's reporting of the suit brought against Wilmington by the Spinazola estate, which owns the Maple Meadow property. The entire article was culled directly from the plaintiff's complaint, a copy of which was provided to the Town Crier by the attorneys for the plaintiff shortly before going to print. Ms. Sullivan did not respond to an invitation to articulate what errors she believed existed within the article.)

Mis-information

To The Editor and Voters,

I read some very misleading and less than honest information recently, stating that Selectwoman Sullivan was backing James Tighe in his run for Selectman. According to Suzanne, she is NOT backing Mr. Tighe. Since the article was signed "name withheld" it certainly makes one realize just how dirty politics can be. False statements give one food for thought.

Quick Health Tips

by Dr. Leslee Quick

Constipation

This may be a touchy subject but many people suffer from it on an all-too-regular basis - constipation.

It may come as a surprise to those not well-versed in holistic care but I see a large share of constipated patients in my office. In addition to the herbal and nutritional advice, the chiropractic component really makes a lot of sense. I will explain more later.

Let's begin with layman physiology. The small intestine is the major organ of digestion, where virtually all the metabolism and absorption of nutrients from food takes place. This portion of the intestines - made up of duodenum, ileum and jejunum - slowly takes away the important, absorbable nutrients that are necessary to feed the body. Other organs, such as the liver, gall bladder and pancreas, provide secondary functions to help metabolize the food further.

Once this metabolic process is completed the leftover matter is sent through the large intestines, made up of three regions - ascending, transverse and descending colons. It is here that water is absorbed and the leftover "waste" is excreted.

When too much water is absorbed, constipation occurs; whereas, too little water absorption creates diarrhea.

It is important that the bowels move on a daily basis. The colon is a tank for waste that should be removed within eighteen to twenty-four hours. After this period, harmful toxins may begin to form. Imagine living near a toxic waste dump, not the healthiest scenario, is it? Well, the same goes for the warm confines of the intestines.

Signs and symptoms of constipation include the feeling of incomplete evacuation, infrequent, or hard bowel movements. Other signs may include nausea, halitosis, excessive flatulence, and abdominal bloating after meals.

Many things can cause constipation: low fluid intake; low fiber diet; lack of exercise; inadequate bile production from poor liver function; drugs; hypothyroid; irritable bowel syndrome; insufficient digestive enzymes; chronic laxative use; pregnancy; parasites; anxiety and stress; bowel flora imbalances; pituitary disorders; and last but not least, trauma.

From a chiropractic perspective with trauma, I use my three year old as an example, which is what prompted me to write this. She is an extremely healthy child, who rarely gets a cold. But a few weeks ago she suffered from a severe bout of constipation. I was in tears as she sat miserable, waiting. We gave her some pure aloe juice and within a few hours she was back to normal. But then it happened again a few days later; this from a child who gets flax seed in her pancakes. This child gets her fiber and water. So I asked if she would let mommy check her spine. Well, I forgot she had a bad fall on her buttocks a week prior after running around the house in her socks on a hard wood floor. Her fifth lumbar vertebrae - a spinal bone in the low back - from which the nervous flow innervates the large intestines, was not moving correctly, or subluxated, in chiropractic terms. Mommy adjusted her spine and she has been "free flowing" ever since.

This brings me to the constipation that I deal with often in the office. Many patients who have had falls, trauma or back issues are often those who are constipated, have reproductive and/or urinary issues. The nerves that exit the spine in the low back innervate these important organs and the restrictions that I correct can often have an affect on these important functions.

So what can you do if you suffer from constipation?

o Eat high-fiber foods such as fresh fruits, raw green, leafy vegetables and brown rice. Foods high in pectin are also important such as apple and pears, especially the skin, beets, dried peas and okra.

o Be wary of laxatives, substances used to promote bowel movements. They are classified in one of four types; bulk-forming, stool softeners, osmotic agents and stimulants. Only the bulk-forming agent laxatives are safe to use on a regular basis and include bran (both in food and supplement form), psyllium and methylcellulose. Overuse of others can actually promote constipation or have other nasty side-affects.

Heavy laxative users need to take acidophilus, a healthy, natural bacteria found in yogurt. Continued laxative use cleans out intestinal bacteria, which is important to normal function.

o Drink more water!

o Stay away from fried foods.

o Avoid foods that stimulate secretions by the mucous membranes, such as dairy products and spicy foods.

o Avoid junk food, white flour, highly processed foods, salt, coffee, alcohol or sugar, which are difficult to digest and have little to no fiber.

o Do not ingest products with mineral oil, which can actually interfere with the absorption of important fat-soluble vitamins.

o Natural Aloe Vera juice, which can be placed in drinks, helps promote proper digestion and works quickly to help ease constipation.

o Garlic also helps to keep the intestines healthy.

o Think about cleansing and fortifying the liver with natural supplement and herbs.

o As always, get exercise. Physical activity speeds up movement of the intestines. Sometimes just a 20 minute, brisk walk can do the trick.

o Especially if you have had a traumatic experience, including a fall or accident, get your spine checked for spinal subluxations.

By taking these steps you can help to avoid it or naturally treat many cases of constipation. This may be a "gross" subject but it is an important one. Who wants a toxic waste dump in their own body? I hope not you or someone you know.

Here's to your health.

Your Two Cents...

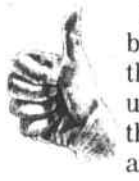

What are they thinking, I've been waiting to hear it but I guess I'm the only one who has a concern, The school board and the adminitration with their infinite wisdom makes our 11, 12, and 13 year old children be at the bus stop before 6:30 AM and lets them out of school at 1:40 PM. What a great idea! That way the teachers can be home just after lunch time and the kids can do what ever before Mom and Dad get home. Wake up!

Tewksbury failure to fund its schools will mean its future generation will be short changed for their one opportunity for a good education for a mediocre one with limiting opportunities. Strong school systems are the key to children reaching their full potential. If Schools are held accountable for educating our students then parents should hold themselves accountable to make sure they have adequate funds.

I recently read an article on a bill being proposed to ban the sale of loud mufflers for cars. I certainly hope that bill includes motorcycles. I can't, for the life of me, understand why anyone would choose to drive something so irritatingly loud. My windows rattle (and they are new) when they go by.

Letters to the editor

Tell Comcast that WCTV matters to you

Dear Editor,

As Wilmington negotiates its cable license, this is a critical time to speak about the value of your local access television resources, provided by WCTV, and the I-Net resources in your communities. On Monday April 3, a Wilmington Cable Public Hearing is scheduled at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. to discuss the cable contract and the communication needs of the Wilmington community. This is the last opportunity - probably for another 10 years - for residents to comment on WCTV and the value of their community channels! It is critical to negotiating a successful contract, that gives Wilmington the funds it needs to continue to offer a high level of quality resources to its community, that individuals and representatives from the local organizations from throughout the community come in and speak in support of public access television and I-Net resources. As the large companies offering cable services vie for business and focus on their own interests, Wilmington residents need to express their interests and needs to their town government so that the funds for our local channels, programming and resources can be preserved.

This is your chance to come in and tell us what matters most to you! We ask all of you to come to the meeting and express your support of WCTV and public access television! We need to build support among our producer base and viewers. If you watch programs or meetings on your local channels - come in and express your support to continue to view these programs! If you have ever produced a television program or taken a class - tell your town officials that this opportunity is important to you! Even if you watch the bulletin board to find out about local meetings and events - your local channels are important to you! Help to protect the wonderful community channels that - unlike some communities, we are very fortunate to have – and that we have all come to know and use for 18 years! Preserve your ability to view important local programs and events such as:

Board of Selectman meetings, School Committee Meetings, other town meetings; Political debates between local candidates; Local town events such as the 275th parade, the Fourth of July celebration, Good Guy events and Concerts on the Common; Local high school football games and other local sports events; Annual high school, middle school and elementary school events; Band performances, musicals, plays and chorale events; Weekly coverage of the church services throughout the community; Cultural programs at the local library and arts council; Programs produced by the neighborhood teenagers and middle-school students; Fundraising events such as the Annual Rotary auction; Fire safety programs such as "Safety for All Seasons," Public safety programs such as "Operation: Safe Prom," Health information and screening events announced on the local community bulletin board; Recreation events for children, adults and seniors announced on the community bulletin board; Distance learning programs for schools and homebound students.

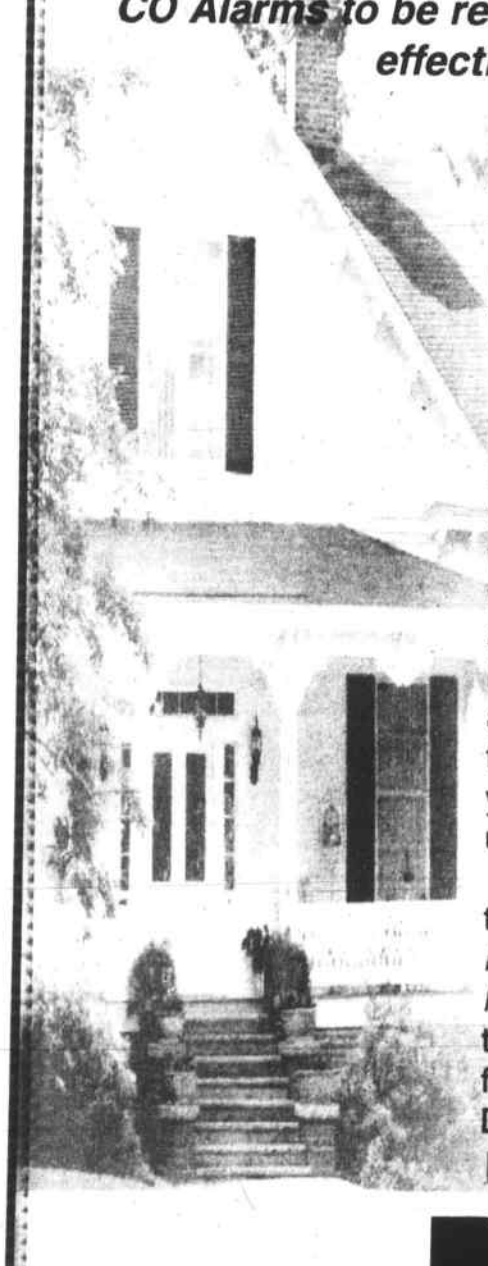

We sometimes take for granted that we have the ability for community dialogue through the space provided on our local Public, Educational and Government (PEG) Channels. Sometimes if we take certain things for granted, they can be changed or taken away from us if we do not appreciate what we have at the time or comment on its value to us. Take time on Monday, April 3 to express your opinion about this "public greenspace" in your local community - and why viewing local information and programs is important to you!

Please come in and speak at the Monday, April 3 at 7 p.m. at the Wilmington Town Hall or to write a letter to the Cable Advisory Chairperson, Jeff Hull, expressing your support. Let your town know that you believe in and support open and free public spaces such the ability to use your PEG access channels and resources! Support WCTV and public access television!

PROTECT FAMILY AND YOURSELF

CO Alarms to be required by law in Massachusetts effective March 31, 2006

As of March 31, 2006, carbon monoxide alarms will be required in all residences with potential sources of carbon monoxide. The Board of Fire Prevention Regulation (BFPR) recently passed emergency regulations to implement the law known as "Nicole's Law" (527 CMR 31.00)

Fire departments are currently required to inspect smoke alarms when homes are being sold and transferred. Starting March 31, 2006 (or January 1, 2007 where hard-wired alarms are required) fire departments will now inspect all residences upon sale and transfer for carbon monoxide alarms. Make certain when you are purchasing an alarm that it is certified by an independent testing company. Not all alarms will bring your home into compliance with these regulations

The Department of Fire Services is distributing a Consumer's Guide to Requirements for Residential Carbon Monoxide Alarms. This guide and information about the regulations can be obtained from your local fire department and on the DFS website at:

State proposes clean-up standards for perchlorate

Miceli at the forefront

BOSTON (AP) - State environmental officials on Tuesday proposed water cleanup standards for perchlorate, a potentially harmful chemical that has been found in drinking water sources at 10 sites in Massachusetts.

The Town of Tewksbury dealt with elevated levels of perchlorate in its public drinking water supply for several months in late 2004 and early 2005 until the source was traced back to a Billerica-based company.

Representative James Miceli has been working with Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) officials ever since in an effort to solve the problem once and for all.

"There are still companies dumping perchlorate into public water supplies, such as the Merrimack River," Miceli said.

Perchlorate, a rocket fuel ingredient, is used in road flares, fireworks and military munitions. The chemical has been found in dozens of states, and was first detected in Massachusetts in 2002 in the aquifer under the Massachusetts Military Reservation on Cape Cod.

Perchlorate can interfere with the production of thyroid hormones, which are needed for pre- and postnatal growth and development.

The DEP' proposed standard would require responsible parties to clean up perchlorate contamination if the chemical is found in drinking water at a concentration of two parts per billion (ppb) or more - a level the agency said was based on a review of scientific data. The regulation also would require regular testing for perchlorate in all public water systems.

Tewksbury was advised to post public health notices when the concentration of perchlorate rose above 1 ppb.

Miceli has been concerned by the DEP's change of opinion relating to safe concentration levels.

"I wanted to know if this new standard would potentially expose my constituents to dangerous levels," Miceli said.

According to miceli, however, he had been assured that much research has been done on the subject and that DEP is comfortable with the 2 ppb threshold.

"I do have faith in DEP on this particular issue," Miceli said. "But there will be a public comment period and we will continue to investigate and we will weigh in on the issue during that time."

The agency scheduled six public hearings on the proposed standards from April 10 through April 27 at locations statewide.

The proposal would give Massachusetts the first perchlorate cleanup and drinking water standards in the nation, the state agency said.

"Perchlorate is an emerging contaminant that has raised a red flag for environmental agencies and public health officials across the country," Stephen Pritchard, the state's environmental affairs secretary, said in a news release.

The federal government currently has no standard to regulate perchlorate levels in drinking water, although some members of California's congressional delegation recently urged that such a standard be adopted.

Tests conducted after Massachusetts required all drinking water systems to test for perchlorate in 2004 found perchlorate above an interim state advisory level at 10 sites: Chesterfield, Southbridge, Hadley, Williamstown, Boxborough, Millbury, Westford, Boxford, Tewksbury and Westport.

How about a hug?

Who Love's Ya Baby?

There was an article in the Lowell Sun asking, "when is the last time you hugged a policeman" or something to that effect.

Well, let's go further. When is that last time you saw a firefighter (not firemen, a fireman stokes a furnace) put out a fire or come to a home on a rescue mission. Have you seen the professionalism? Have you seen the care each firefighter gives to a neighbor. Have you observed DPW personnal flushing your hydrant? Do you know why they flush your hydrant? Who do you see late at night plowing your road or cleaning out a drain? Who see's the police officer slowing driving by their home at 3 a.m.? Why are they driving by at 3 a.m.?

Have you ever attended a Planning Board, Finance or Conservation meeting? Why are they meeting? Who is the clerk, the tax department, the treasury, the recreation department, who are these people and what are they doing? The assistant town manager, the School Committee, the suprentendant, teachers.

These people work for the Town of Wilmington and they're respective Department heads. I have been around a few years and I can honestly tell you Wilmington is the best run town or city in the Merrimack Valley and or the Middlesex County.

I also know none of this would be true if it weren't for the Town Manager, Mike Caira. I am sometimes worried that he will puck up his family and move to another town. I know how he deals with new selectmen every few years. To put up with disrespectful and know-it-all's is difficult but he does it. He kills them with professionalism. This apples only to those selectmen to whom the shoe fits.

Am I running for something? No. Am I brown-nosing? No. I'm just asking, when is the last time you appreciated what you have and whose looking out for ya baby.

Proud to be from Wilmington,
Ken Meuse

Beatrice I. Todd

Black History Enthusiast

PITTSFIELD -- Beatrice I. Todd, 91, of 176 Columbus Ave., died at Mount Greylock Extended Care Facility on Thursday, March 9, 2006. She moved back to Pittsfield 3 months ago and was in the nursing home only for 6 weeks.

Born in Pittsfield on Nov. 14, 1914, daughter of William T. and Ida H. Tucker Todd, she grew up in the Berkshire Village section of Lanesborough and attended schools there.

She was employed by the former Pittsfield General Hospital in the laboratory. Previously, she had worked as a domestic.

In 1960 she moved to Boston, working as a domestic, moving to work in Boston University Medical Center in the laboratory, then Opportunities Industrial Center.

She volunteered at the Health and Welfare Committee of the Model Cities Agency, the Boston Consumer's Health Council and the Boston Afro-American History Museum on Beacon Hill. She was a member of the League of Women's Voters. She became a school volunteer and a visiting lecturer on black history and spoke at many colleges and elementary schools.

She moved to Wilmington Deming Way several years ago to be closer to her daughter Joyce and her husband Robert as well as 4 grandchildren Peter, Aaron, Barbette, Amy, and 3 great grand children Alelia, Alexa and Aaron.

She was instrumental in having Berkshire Mall in Lansborough MA, place a memorial near the Todd Family property, which was once part of the Underground Railroad.

She leaves two daughters,

Joyce A Brown, of Wilmington and Adele M. Bradley, of Pittsfield; a son, Timothy P. Todd, of Springfield; 12 grandchildren, and 19 great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by a daughter, Eva M. Todd, and a son, Thomas T. Todd.

FUNERAL NOTICE -- At the request of Beatrice I. Todd, who died Thursday, March 9, 2006, there will be no services or calling hours. Ms. Todd donated her body to the Boston University Medical School for research. Burial will be in the Pine Hill Cemetery in Tewksbury at a later date. She also leaves a son-in-law, Robert A. Brown, a daughter-in law, Pauline Todd, and four great-great grandchildren. If friends desire, donations in her memory are suggested to HospiceCare in the Berkshires, in care of Wellington Funeral Home, 220 East St., Pittsfield, MA 01201

"Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat" at Wilmington United Methodist Church March 29th

Wilmington's William Fay recognized for excellence

Bill Fay, WHS graduate, former Wilmington Supt. of Schools, and Middle School Principal, continues his eductional leadership as an elementary school principal in Florida. Bill was recently named as one of leading principals in Palm Beach County.

Teachers completed a yearly CTA survey at their schools which resulted with an "A" for eighteen principals. On Tuesday, February 21, 2006, they were recognized at the CTA Building on Spencer Drive as "Outstanding Principals" for the 2004-05 school year.

Congratulatory letters were mailed to each principal and followed up with a phone call. "They were so excited to hear the news," stated Janice Poirier, CTA Communications Chairperson. "Some were surprised while others told me this honor was a great 'morale booster' right before FCAT begins."

CTA President, Theo Harris, Vice President, Ed Kopt and Karen Kay assisted with the award certificates and a gift to each principal. A reception followed the recognition.

Absentee voting for Tewksbury's annual town election

Tewksbury Town Clerk, Elizabeth Carey, has prepared the following concerning absentee voting. You may vote absentee if you are a registered voter and will be unable to vote at the polls because: you will be out of town during the hours the polls are opens, because you have a physical disability, or because of religious beliefs.

You, or a family member, must apply in writing, for an absentee ballot from the office of the Town Clerk BEFORE NOON on FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 2006. An absentee ballot application request may be mailed or hand delivered.

You may request the official absentee ballot application form or you may use any form of written communication; a letter or postcard. Include your name, your address where you are listed as a registered voter, the precise address to which you want the ballot sent, and your signature. Requesting to vote by mail: A ballot will be sent to any address that you specify. Be sure to apply early because the ballot must be sent by mail. The ballot may be returned by mail or hand delivered to the Town Clerk's Office at the Town Hall. It must be received in the Office of the Town Clerk, Town Hall by 7:00 PM on election day.

Requesting to vote in person: The final day to request to vote in person is BEFORE NOON on FRIDAY; MARCH 31, 2006. You may fill out the application for an absentee ballot and vote at the Town Clerk's Office, Town Hall, during the same visit. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM to 4:30 PM, and Tuesday evening 7:00 PM to 8:30 PM. Please phone the Town Clerk's Office at 978-640-4355 if we can be of further assistance.

Stars shine on Wilmington Post Office

WILMINGTON - You've heard of five-star hotels and five-star resorts-get ready for a five-star Post Office.

Wilmington Post Office recently earned a five-star rating as part of the Postal Service's new 5-Star Customer Service Program. Ratings are based on surveys by The Gallup Organization.

"We've always provided excellent service," said Postmaster Michael E. DiGregorio. "Now we've got the stars to back it up."

The Gallup Organization surveys USPS customers, asking them to rate local Post Offices on efficiency, accuracy of delivery, consistency of delivery and wait-time-in-line. Wilmington Post Office received a significant increase in "excellent" ratings, earning the 5-Star Customer Service Award.

Customers entering Wilmington Post Office will know it too. Each office earning five-star status receives a sign for its door and all employees receive five-star lapel pins in recognition of the rating.

Massachusetts Postal District Manager John W. "Mike" Powers III commended Wilmington postal employees "for providing our customers with the best customer service possible."

He added: "The Postal Service is a customer-focused organization. In fact, our Strategic Transformation Plan says it best-it's all about the customer."

Postmaster DiGregorio said, "We're really honored to receive this rating. It shows that our customers value the excellent service the employees in this office provide."

Miceli votes for legislation to protect consumer privacy rights

BOSTON - Chairman James R, Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) voted with his House colleagues to unanimously pass legislation that will protect the privacy rights of drivers.

Currently, car dealerships are not required to inform consumers that the car he or she may purchase may be equipped with black boxes that record information about vehicle speed, steering performance, seat belt and air bag status, and brake deployment. This information can be accessed by third parties, including insurance companies.

The legislation passed by the House addresses the two major concerns that Representative Miceli had with the black boxes. Not only does it require auto manufactures and dealers to notify the buyer that the car has a black box, but it also ensures that the car owner also owns the information in the black box. Insurance companies and auto manufactures must obtain permission from the owner. A major exception to the law would be if the car dealership and/or auto manufacturer were served with a lawful court order.

The Senate must also pass this bill and the Governor must sign it before it becomes law.

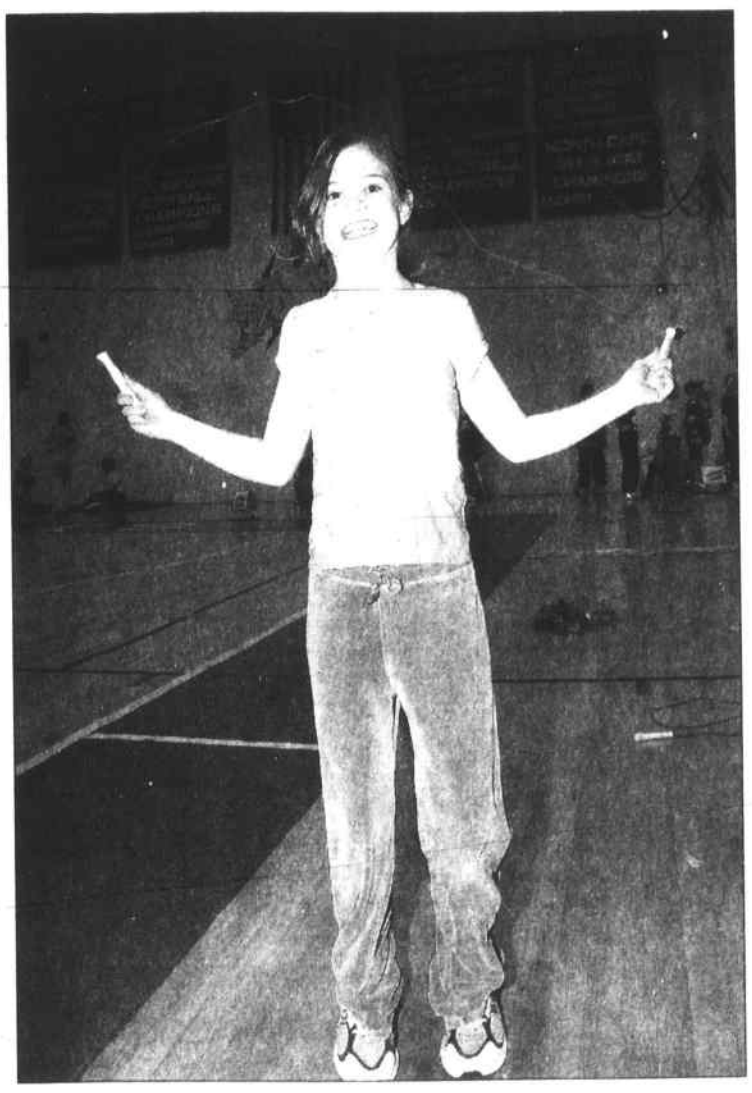

"I believe that the citizens of Massachusetts have the right to know what information the vehicle they drive holds." Miceli said. "I find it appalling that people have been driving their automobiles without the knowledge that this was being stored in their car."

Deputat and Gath honored by Tewksbury Lions Club

At a recent meeting of the Tewksbury Lion's Club, two members, John Deputat, President 1988-1990 and Secretary since 1999 and David Gath long time member of the Board of Directors were honored with the prestigious Charles E. Kostro award presented by Mass. Lions District 33N visual aids foundation in recognition of their contribution to humanitarian needs.

Both were cited for their lengthy service to the Tewksbury Lions Club in support of eye research and community service.

The awards were presented by Past International Director Charles E. Kostro for whom the award is named.

The Wilmington Public Schools presented the Elementary Physical Education & Health Fair at Wilmington High School on Thursday, March 9th. The gymnasium was full of informational tables as well as 3rd and 4th grade students from the West, Shawsheen, North, and Woburn Street schools demonstrating physical education and health activities.

Wilmington youth display excellence in production

WCTV's Youth Outreach Program is starting off the year with great success! Recently, students gathered at the station during their February vacation. The students worked on several productions, including "Project Love Your Library," in honor of the Wilmington Memorial Library.

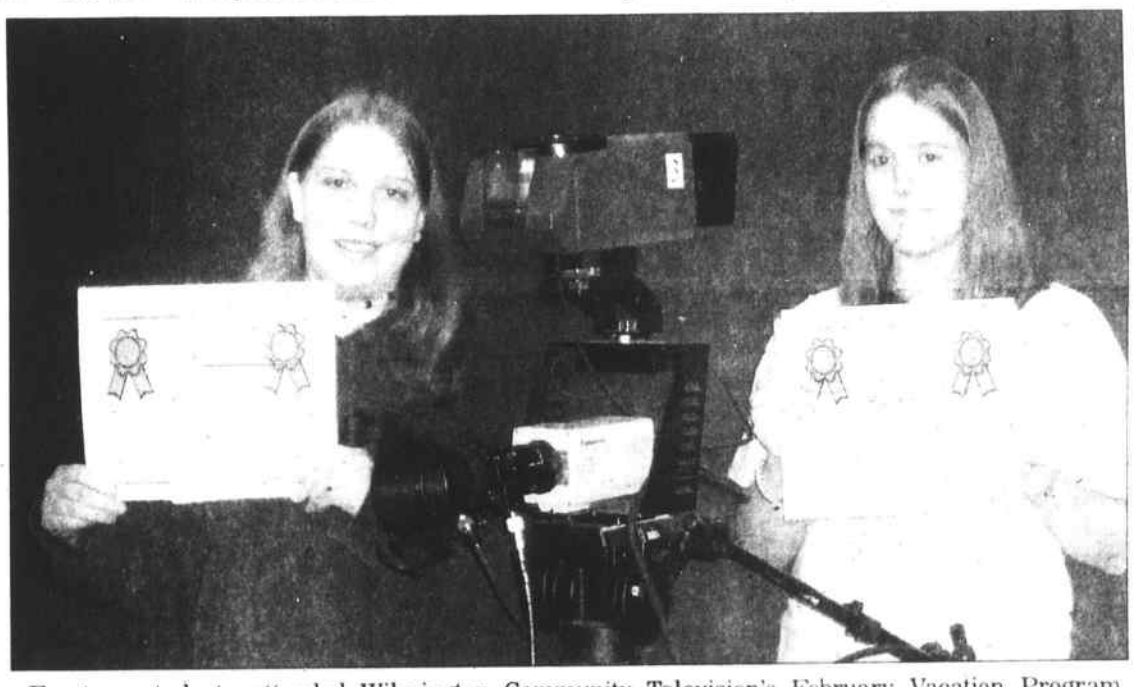

Attendance for the program was high with twelve to fourteen students participating each day. On Thursday, February 23, Teen Services Librarian Nathalie Harty joined the group for an interview conducted by Kaileigh Bernardo and Kyle Serino. The interview, along with additional reading associated projects produced by the students, will air this week on WCTV's Community Channel 10.

Motivated by student's creativity, Youth Outreach Coordinator Holly Boyko began WCTV's "Youth of the Month". Recipients of this award consistently display characteristics of excellence during their participation in Youth Outreach events.

Nicole Iosue was chosen for the month of January. Nicole, participating in her first year of Video Explorers, displays strength and ability through her work. She exhibits a concise understanding of the technical concepts taught during the after school program and is always eager to learn.

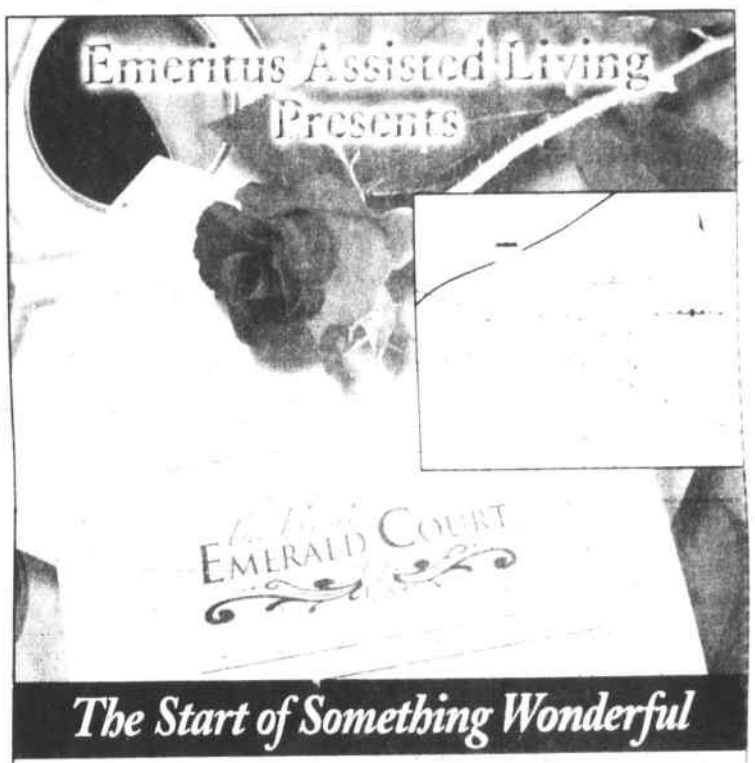

Katie Hill was the chosen youth for the month of February. Katie has demonstrated a significant amount of growth throughout the past year. Although she prefers to run the show "behind the scenes," Katie has gradually "come out of her shell" and displayed her strengths in front of the camera as well. Katie is always attentive in class and expresses a clear understanding of the technical concepts taught in class.

Keep your eyes open for the Wilmington youth on WCTV! They will be sure to entertain you!

Fourteen students attended Wilmington Community Television's February Vacation Program. Joining the group were Nicole Iosue and Katie Hill who received Youth of the Month awards for January and February.

Central Catholic High School wins regional championship

Tewksbury residents contribute to mock trial team's success

ANDOVER - It was Tewksbury against Tewksbury in some respects when Lawrence's Central Catholic High School Mock Trial team won its regional championship (Region #11) by defeating the Tewksbury Memorial High School team, on Friday, March 10, in a competition held in the Old Courtroom at the Massachusetts School of Law at Andover.

The Central Catholic team, which includes four Tewksbury residents, now advances to the sweet 16 round of the state tournament. 115 teams began this academic competition, which is sponsored by the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Each year the Bar Association contest judges students on their writing, thinking, speaking, and advocacy skills, while preparing a case for trial. This year's case involves a negligence action in which serious personal injuries were incurred as a result of using a global positioning system.

Central Catholic is coached by Central Catholic teacher Ashleigh Ward and Massachusetts School of Law's Associate Dean, Michael Coyne. Associate Dean Coyne said that "Central's victory and success in the competition over the last several years is a tribute to the strength of Central Catholic's academic program and to the school's deep commitment to expanding their students' intellectual curiosity while providing support to insure their intellectual growth."

Tewksbury residents Natasha Pereira, Mike Pazzanese, Christopher Kaeneman, and Nadia Pereira contributed to Central Catholic High School's regional championship status.

Ward complimented the students "on their tireless work throughout the year developing a strategy, writing material, revising their work and honing their presentation skills. That the students would work on this noncredit project after school, on weekends and during vacations says a great deal about their diligence, character and integrity, which are the hallmarks of Central Catholic's students."

The Central Catholic High School team has won the regional championship for the last six years. The team's next trial will be held on Tuesday, March 14, at 2:00 P.M. at Woburn District Court against the winner of Region 12, Westford High School.

Bone Marrow Typing Drive for Paul Brooks

Date: Sunday, April 9, 2006
Time: 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
Place: Wilmington Memorial High School
159 Church Street
Wilmington, MA 01887

The first 500 donors will receive a free meal gift certificate from Focaccia's in Wilmington.

About Paul

Twenty two year old Paul Brooks of Wilmington (son of Carl & Lee Brooks) was diagnosed at 19 years old in the fall of 2002 with ALL Type Leukemia. He had two years of intense chemotherapy to cure this terrible disease. Unfortunately, Paul has had a relapse and will require a bone marrow transplant Although a patient's best chance of finding a compatible donor is a sibling, Paul's brother is not a compatible donor. The Brooks family must now search for a compatible donor, a stranger, who could help save Paul's life. That stranger could be you.

About Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

DFCI is a participating Donor Center of the National Marrow Donor Program. Paul is one of thousands of patients who are turning to the National Marrow Donor Program's registry.

Anyone between the ages of 18-60 and in good health can potentially become a volunteer donor. Please log onto: www.marrow.org for more information the importance of registering as a bone marrow nor.

What to Expect at the Drive

After learning about the donation process and signing a participant consent form, volunteer donors give a small blood sample that will determine their marrow type. All new donors will be added to the national database, searched daily by patients in need of their miracle match.

Questions About the Drive

If you have questions regarding donor eligibility and frequently asked questions and answers, please visit the website:

Cost of Testing

Testing is currently $65.00 per person. If you have Massachusetts or Rhode Island health insurance coverage and your plan is a non-Erisa plan, it must by law cover HLA testing. Please consult your health insurance provider or your employer to inquire if your Plan covers HLA tissue typing. Fund-raising will help to defray the cost of testing for those persons who do not have health insurance or unable to pay the $65.00 testing fee.

Visit Vegas - at the Library

Las Vegas was once a simple stopover for pioneers on the westward trails, and then became renowned as an entertainment and gambling destination. For the past few years the spotlight has shown even more brightly on the city as it has become a major setting for television shows, including the most-watched series, CSI. The popularity of related cable television shows and Internet gambling websites has followed suit, and now even armchair explorers can get a taste of the Vegas lifestyle. Whether you want to visit the city behind the hype or brush up on your poker skills for a Texas Hold'em night with friends, Tewksbury Public Library has the books to make it happen.

Take a look at the library's travel collection for up-to-date advice about one of today's hottest destinations. Standard guidebooks such as Fodor's and Frommer's will provide a comprehensive overview of hotels, restaurants, shopping, and basics, including transportation and pricing in the city. Savvy travelers can also check out The Unofficial Guide to Las Vegas, which provides unique perspectives on business travel to Las Vegas, all styles of available entertainment— from celebrity headliner shows to comedy clubs– to the real deal on gambling. For a stunning visual presentation of the city, pick up Eyewitness Travel Las Vegas. Published by Dorling Kindersley, this travel book series is famous for its full-color photographs and extensive maps.

Aside from its glittering nightlife, Las Vegas is famous for the number and variety of its casinos. What to do when the house odds seem stacked against the average player? Prepare for the trip with Secrets of the New Casino Games, Casino Gambling Secrets, Casino Gambling for the Clueless, and The Casino Answer Book. These books offer expert tips and strategies for potential gamblers. Learn the basic rules of all major casino card games, as well as gaining valuable information on related entertainment like slot machines, Keno, and video poker. For a testimonial of six brilliant MIT students who actually won millions from Las Vegas' casinos, remember to check out Bringing Down the House.

One of the most popular games in both casinos and homes across America is poker. The game has been played in the United States since the 1800s, making its way into casinos with the beginning of the World Series of Poker in 1970. In recent years online poker and cable TV shows like the World Poker Tour have created renewed interest in this classic game. Beginners can learn the fundamentals of playing, terms, and etiquette with books such as How to Win at Poker and Poker for Dummies. More advanced players can try Doyle Brunson's Super System, Championship No-Limit and Pot-Limit Hold'em, and Play Poker Like the Pros.

For information on Las Vegas travel and casino games, visit the Tewksbury Public Library. All casino and card game books can be found upstairs in the library's nonfiction section under the call number 795. All travel guides can be found in the 917's. Stop by today and browse the selection of books mentioned in this article along with many more!

An invitation to join the Friends of the Harnden Tavern

Calling all individuals interested in preserving a part of Wilmington's history! You are cordially invited to join the Friends of the Harnden Tavern. This organization meets at 7:30 p.m. every third Wednesday of the month at the Wilmington Town Museum at the Colonel Joshua Harnden Tavern.

The group consist of a executive board and general membership, but whatever commitment big or small is greatly appreciated. We need your help in a broad range of areas from assisting in our annual events to deciding important issues at our monthly meetings.

The Friends of the Harnden Tavern were organized in 1975, shortly after the town acquired this late eighteenth century building. The Friends support the Tavern (also known as the Wilmington Town Museum) in many ways. They have organized many events at the Tavern over the years, including the annual Holiday Social; they have furnished the Tavern, holding fundraisers and attending estate sales in order to acquire the furniture needed to make this building come alive; they have cared for and cherished the Tavern, always mindful of its significance to the history of our town.

New members are always welcome! Please join us at any of our meetings or events. Members are invited to attend monthly meetings of the Executive Board, but attendance at these meetings is not required to be a Friend. Any commitment big or small is greatly appreciated! Help is needed in a broad range of areas from assisting in annual events to deciding important issues at monthly meetings.

The Friend's next meetings will be held on March 15th, April 19th, and May 17th at 7:30 p.m. in the Colonel Joshua Harnden Tavern and Wilmington Town Museum. The museum is located at 430 Salem Street near Winchester Hospital's Regional Health Center.

Find out more about the Friends of the Harnden Tavern by calling the Tavern at 978-658-5475 or e-mailing Jane McGrath at mcgrathjane@comcast.net. You can also visit the historic Tavern during its open house hours on the first Sunday of each month 2 - 4 p.m. On April 2nd, the Tavern's Open House will include a special exhibit titled "Collecting Wilmington" with local citizens exhibiting their memorabilia collections.

We welcome and appreciate your participation in our organization. Thank you!

Pride - Prejudice - Whist

Pride and Prejudice Book Discussion and Whist Party

Wilmington's Jane Austen Book Club will host a book discussion of Pride and Prejudice on Tuesday, March 28th at 7 p.m. Come share your thoughts and feelings about this famous novel. Discussion will include opinions on whether the film adaptations accurately capture the characters and the story.

Details of daily life in nineteenth century England are woven through Austen's novels. In keeping with the spirit of the times, the book discussion will be followed by a whist party. According to the book by Daniel Pool, What Jane Austen Ate and Charles Dickens Knew: From Fox Hunting to Whist - Daily Life in 19th Century England, "whist is the quintessential nineteenth century card game....the ancestor of bridge." Those who know how to play whist will share their knowledge of the game with others.

Emma follows Pride and Prejudice.

The main character in Emma, Austen's featured book for April, is Emma Woodhouse, a self-proclaimed matchmaker, who takes it upon herself to find a suitor for Harriet Smith, a young woman of questionable birth. Emma, a young lady of means living with her elderly father on a large estate, finds matchmaking a pleasurable diversion that suits her status and talents. Since there is a lack of suitors of similar rank for her, Emma takes it upon herself to find suitors for others with all the pitfalls that come with meddling in others affairs. With the help of her brother-in-law, Mr. Knightly, Emma learns from her missteps to become a woman of character. If this synopsis sounds familiar, Emma is a story that rings true even today. The 1995 hit movie, Clueless, was based on it, starring Alicia Silverstone in the Emma role. Please join us in our second month of celebrating Jane Austen's works by picking up a copy of Emma at the library.

Friends Annual Meeting, March 16th, 7 p.m.

Following the business meeting, there will be a special program featuring Jay Atkinson and Chuck Hogan, two Massachusetts authors whose books deal with Boston's cops and robbers.

Poetry Contest

The library's annual poetry contest is underway. This year's theme is water. Applications with contest rules are available at the library and at www.wilmlibrary.org. Deadline for submitting a poem for the poetry contest is Friday, March 31st.

All Things Irish

The library joins the celebration of Saint Patrick's Day with a variety of displays including Irish music, novels set in Ireland, and Ireland travel and history. If you are interested in learning more about Saint Patrick, the library has the book St. Patrick of Ireland by Philip Freeman. For leprechauns, shamrocks, and the Saint Patrick's Day parade, check out the display in the Children's Room.

Upcoming Children's Programs

National Family Day Story/Craft

Stories about family and a family tree craft will be presented to children ages five and older on Tuesday, March 21st at 3:30 p.m. Visit or call the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098 to register.

Book Discussion

Join children ages 7 & older for their book discussion of School's Out by Johanna Hurwitz to be held on Friday, March 31st at 3:30 p.m. A light snack and door prize will be provided.

Copies of the book may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098.

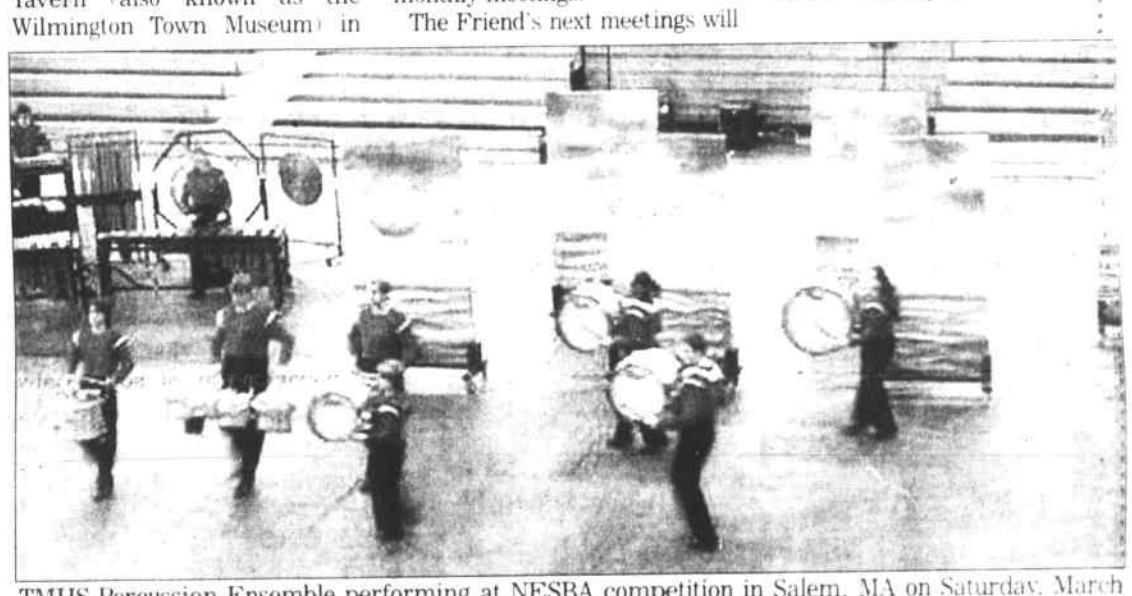

Upcoming Teen Events

Teen Book Club: Thursday, March 16, 3:30 p.m. Drop-in.

Teens meet monthly to talk about a common book they have read. This month the book is The Amulet of Samarkand (Book one of the Bartimaeus Trilogy) by Jonathan Stroud. It is a very popular fantasy novel. Readers who loved Harry Potter might like this book. Teens will be served foods mentioned in the book and also be entered in a drawing to win a book (courtesy of the Friends of the Library). Extra copies of this book are available at the library.

Dungeons and Dragons: Friday, March 17, 3:00 - 4:45 p.m. Drop-in.

Students in grades six and up are invited to participate in this popular fantasy role-playing game. All levels of players (beginner, intermediate, advanced) are welcome.

TMHS Percussion Ensemble performing at NESBA competition in Salem, MA on Saturday, March 11th. The Percussion Ensemble brought home the 1st place trophy. Percussion Ensemble members are Lynne Andrews, Greg Andrews, Jason Bustin, Phil Crowley, Matiah Haloon, Alison Hammersley, Jacob Haversat, John Hines, Matt Lima, Joe Loschiavo, Amy Morin, Keegan Sheehy, Liam Sheehy, Nick Trodella and Mike Walton.

Enhancing Wilmington recycling program

BOSTON - Senate Minority Whip Bruce Tarr (R-Gloucester) and Representative Charles Murphy (D-Burlington) said today that the Town of Wilmington has been awarded a Municipal Waste Reduction Grant administered through the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). Wilmington will receive 300 Don't Trash Grass brochures, 200 junk mail kits, 30 rain barrel discount vouchers, 500 waste reduction bookmarks, 50 water conservation kits and 40 wheeled recycling carts, valued at $4,282.

"Recycling is a basic way for citizens to take action locally and make a real difference for the environment and the community," said Tarr. "These grant funds are important in supporting those local efforts and innovation."

"Wilmington's effort to increase the local recycling program demonstrates that the town's leadership is moving the town in the right direction and I'm pleased the Commonwealth is joining with Wilmington in helping expand the program," commented Murphy.

Since 1990, DEP has awarded over $42 million in recycling equipment, household hazardous waste equipment, educational materials and technical assistance to municipalities. The expansion of grant offerings targeted at improving water conservation and air quality reflect MassDEP's ongoing commitment to working in partnership with municipalities to protect the environment and improve the quality of life for Massachusetts residents. These grants play a vital role in building the state's recycling infrastructure and making it more cost-effective for communities to recycle, thereby reducing the environmental and health impacts of waste management.

The Intramural Ski Program completed another successful season under the direction of Nancy Farrey-Forsyth, Donna Graham and Bonnie Hansberry. The 30 students who participated were transported by bus to Bradford Hill Ski Area in Haverhill on Tuesday afternoons in January and February. Students could ski or snowboard at Bradford. They could choose to take lessons or purchase a lift ticket at a reasonable price. Rentals were also available at a moderate cost.
The Intramural Ski Program is open to seventh and eight grade students attending Wynn Middle School regardless of previous skiing or snowboarding experience. Information about next year's program will be available at the Middle School office in October with sign-ups in November 2006. For future information, contact the Wynn Middle School at (978) 640-7846 and ask to speak to Nancy Farrey-Forsyth, Donna Graham, or Bonnie Hansberry. (courtesy photo)

Joan Brothers and Vincent Bruno of Century 21 J. Borstell achieved Centurion Producer

Tewksbury - G. Jeff Borstell, broker/owner of Century 21 J. Borstell announced that Joan Brothers and Vincent Bruno, both sales associates with the office recently earned the Century 21 System's Centurion Producer Award following their 2005 success.

The Centurion Producer award honors Century 21 System sales associates that earn $190,000 in sales production or 60 closed transactions sides within a calendar year.

Brothers and Bruno will be presented with a Centurion Award statue and lapel pin, in addition to being recognized at the Century 21 International Convention.

Joan and Vincent are leaders in delivering powerful home buying and selling choices to their clients because they know the community they serve" said Borstell. Brothers and Bruno are valued and trusted real estate resources for the Tewksbury and Merrimack Valley area community and are a major contributor to the overall success of the Century 21 J. Borstell office.

JOAN BROTHERS

VINCENT BRUNO

Joan has 19 years of experience in the real estate industry and has been with the Century 21 System for 17 years. She serves as a director of the board of director's of the Northeast Association of Realtors.

Vincent Bruno has 13 years of experience in the real estate industry and has been with the Century 21 System for all 13 years. Vincent has achieved this Centurion award for the past 10 years and has been inducted into the Century 21 Hall of Fame.

Tewksbury recycling notes

The Tewksbury Recycling Committee would like to provide a few reminders about town recycling and refuse disposal:

• Third Saturday of every month - Many people hold onto items for household hazardous waste day when they can bring many of them down to the DPW on the 3rd Saturday of each month (9 am to 1 pm). No lines. Items that can be brought down are waste oil, fluorescent bulbs, sheet rock, and TVs/CRTs ($10 fee - make checks payable to the Town of Tewksbury).

• Household hazardous waste day - May 20th. More information to follow. Adult volunteers are always needed. Please contact Jae Gray at 978-657-7810 if you are interested in helping out.

• Rechargeable (Ni-Cd) batteries and lithium-based (watch or calculator) batteries should not be thrown out in the regular trash. Please bring them down to either the library or the town manager's office and place them in the collection containers. Standard alkaline batteries can be disposed of in the regular trash - they no longer contain mercury.

• Mercury thermometers may be brought to the town manager's office.

• Note that the blue recycling bins are NOT necessary for recycling pickup. If recyclables are placed in a container separate from refuse and is clearly distinguished from the normal trash (for example, trash on one side of the driveway and recyclables on the other side), they should be collected separately. Many people have enough recyclables such that another garbage can is used. If you would feel more comfortable having a sticker on the container stating that it is recyclables, they are available at the town manager's office.

• If you are aware of improper collection methods (e.g., recyclables or yard waste being thrown in with regular trash), please contact Sandy at 978-640-4300 so that she can straighten things out (alternately, you may call Jae at 978-657-7810).

• Microwave ovens may be placed out with normal trash. They are not considered "white goods." like a stove, refrigerator, or air conditioner. To recycle white goods (including air conditioners, refrigerators, washers, dryers, stoves, and water heaters), call BFI at 1-800-442-9006 to schedule a Saturday pickup.

• Latex paint cans can be thrown away in the regular trash. Remove the lids and allow the remaining paint to dry out prior to placing in your trash.

• Leaves - Leaf pickup will occur April 12, 20, 26 and May 3. Place leaves in paper bags or separate trash barrels (plastic bags will not be collected) next to the road. Avoid mixing a lot of grass clippings, pine needles, pine cones, and small sticks with the leaves.

• Plastics numbered 1 through 7 are recyclable in Tewksbury. Many people still think the program is limited to the lower numbers. Styrofoam is not part of the program even if it has a number on it. Please check out our website (www.tewksbury.info/recycle) for some styrofoam recycling options, primarily with respect to packing peanuts. Plastic grocery/shopping bags should not be placed in the recycling bins (they get caught in the mechanical separators at the recycling facility). They should be recycled at the stores distributing them (e.g., Market Basket, Wal-Mart, Staples, etc.).

• Remember that paper and cardboard make up a significant, if not the largest, portion of our refuse mass and it should almost all be recycled. This saves the town money in a time when funding continues to be an issue in the Commonwealth. Please take a little time to break down/cut up cardboard boxes and recycle as much paper as you can. For people who are trying to keep town finances in the best shape possible by recycling, it becomes frustrating to see people throwing out so much cardboard which is just costing the town more money. A few more minutes of effort will help both your pocket (when the town won't have to ask for more money) and the environment. Also remember that you can include magazines, newspaper, junk mail (the plastic windows are okay to include!), receipts, tags, paper towel and toilet paper tubes, cereal boxes, and pasta boxes (again, the plastic windows are okay).

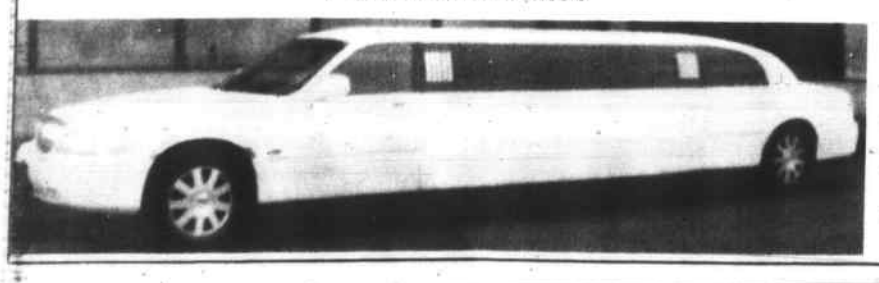

• To give and get items for free ("freecycle"), check out http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Tewksburyfreecycle/ this is a local group which is part of www.freecycle.org, covering many different locations.

• If you have any further questions, check out our website (noted above) or call Jae Gray at 978-657-7810.

Fathers getting involved

attend every meeting. E-mails are shared, and information gets out one way or the other. In fact, one of the dads, whose only daughter is now at (the Middle School), still has a connection with us! It's a great way for dads to network with one another while making a positive contribution to their child's education and school."

Contribute they have, paving their way with popcorn, pizza, chips, and a dash of improv.

Take their last event.

"You'd think that picking a February date in New England would pretty much guarantee snow, but you never know about New England weather," said Coakley, of the sledding party scheduled for February school vacation.

Did they suffer a meltdown? Yes, and no.

"Some kids played football, soccer, and basketball outside," said Coakley of the delightful way-too-early spring weather that day.

They toughed it out, though.

"We got maybe 50 people by the end," he said. "We were looking at losing money, but our rough count at the end resulted in a couple of dollars for the school. The best part was that the kids were full of hot dogs, burgers, chips, and soda."

And the men, as always: hot stuff. 'Cafeteria' in this case referred to the cafeteria, but did not include the kitchen: Coakley and the big guys grilling, 'dogs' boiling in a turkey fryer.

"To use the kitchen would have involved an extra fee," said Nortonen, "so we had a cook-out, but an eat-in."

Thank goodness, again, for that school cafeteria, and these 'reel' men.

"We were going to show the new 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory,' said Coakley, "but we put 'Cats and Dogs' in first to get the projector up and running. By the time we got everything hooked up and working, the three kids that had showed up for the movie didn't want to stop it. We watched all of 'Cats and Dogs,' then half of 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.'

"A couple of people went home even happier with some nice raffle winnings - ski tickets, Wilmington towels, candy basket, T-shirt, DVD...."

When it comes to work-life balance, these men take a back seat to no one. All work and no play? Not for these working dads whose home-away-from-home improvements include purchasing benches for the school gym, buying and building three large wooden picnic tables for teachers and students, and chipping in on a 'double curving' slide upgrade that the students really wanted on the new playground.

Past events include a trip with "lots of excited and scared kids" to the Livingston Haunted House in Tewksbury; UMass Lowell-BC hockey at the Tsongas Arena, attended by 160 of Wilmington's finest; Manchester, NH Wolves Arena football, Lock Monsters hockey, and a movie night at school.

"We showed the movie 'Robots' to around 200 parents and kids" said Coakley. "A free movie and free popcorn kept everyone happy. We asked the kids to bring some food for the local food bank, and we collected over 100 items. Nine winners at the raffle after the movie each took home a set of four tickets to any UMass Lowell sports 2005-2006 games - hockey at Tsongas arena, men's and women's basketball at Costello gym."

When they say boys' night out, they mean business: their biggest event is coming right up on March 24.

"Almost every boy - about 150 - in the school shows up along with a parent," said Coakley. "There are grab bag tickets for each boy, basketball and a wiffleball game/homerun derby in the school gym, board games and cards in the cafeteria for everyone to use."

Followed by entertainment on the cafeteria stage. Last year, they had a magician, followed by a raffle that involved about 40 items donated by local merchants.

"This year we're going with a talent show," he said. "Throughout the whole evening, we serve drinks, cookies, cakes, and treats donated by parents. We have a tall stack of pizzas delivered that always gets polished off."

Not only do these guys polish, they clean; and, wouldn't you know, on Blisteria lane, a man's work is never done: they're even planning a garden party.

Not that they call it that. The spring 'garden clean up' will consist of a few hours one morning in the garden in front of the school entrance. They also plan to clean up the Dads' Group picnic tables they built a few years ago.

Meetings, they say, are a lot of fun.

"We hold seven or eight one-hour meetings during a given year," said Coakley. "Currently, we meet at 8 p.m. on the second Thursday of the month at the North Intermediate School Library to make our plans. Meetings are very casual and often fun. Typically, we come up with a 'to do' list for an upcoming event, and we each volunteer to do something. We also discuss how we might spend any funds that we have at the end of the year from our raffles.

"I may be the chairman of the group, but we've got a great group of dads who get it all done," he continued. "It's hard to pick the key members."

He credits Mike Paquette, Mark Sullivan, Mark Masiello, Paul Martin, Stan Dancewicz, Tim Burke, Dave Wilson, Frank Aiesi, Gregg Moulton, Mike McFadden, Kevin Caira, and Dave Wilson for their consistent attendance and volunteering.

"Our best accomplishment," said Coakley, "is our success in happy kids. In addition, we dads feel great about our work. Who wouldn't be proud of memorable times with our kids going to games with family and friends, spending time at school when the kids aren't working?"

The group is, they'd be the first to point out, politically correct and all-inclusive.

But just admit it, guys: where would you be without a woman's touch?

"Michele Nortonen," said Coakley, "is the notorious dad-meeting.

The proposal has received stiff opposition from neighbors, including State Representative James Miceli, who contend that the project is too dense for an area already burdened with heavy traffic flow.

Proponents have argued that a residential use of the property would likely produce less traffic than would an industrial use of the property.

The developer, Tambone Investment Group, has reduced the density of the project more than once; first coming in with a plan for 153-units, then with a plan for 128-units, until finally standing firm with 108-units. The Board of Selectmen established a two-member negotiating team to meet with the developer in an attempt to negotiate even further.

The negotiating team met twice and drafted three options to bring back to the full Board of Selectmen. The first option maintained 100 condominium units, dropped the 8 townhouses, and included a $150,000 gift to the town. The second option maintained 100 condominium units, replaced the 8 townhouses with 3 single-family homes, and included a $150,000 gift to the town. The third option maintained 100 condominiums, maintained 8 townhouses, and included a $250,000 gift to the town.

The negotiations, however, fell apart during the follow-up Board of Selectmen meeting.

According to both McCoy and Tambone, the three individuals involved left the negotiations with the agreement that the first option, once it was put into writing and accepted as to form by Town Counsel, would receive the endorsement of McCoy and Sullivan. Sullivan apparently had second thoughts after striking the deal. According to Sullivan, she had been looking for a reduction of 20 units, $150,000 to the town, and mitigation to the site, but the developer did not meet her halfway. She was not ready to settle yet.

Crystal Commons has appeared several times before the Board of Appeals, which has reviewed all aspects of the proposed development, such as traffic studies and potential mitigation measures. The developer will be responsible for roughly $450,000 worth of mitigation measures, but some members of the Board of Appeals were adamantly against [illegible] cash donation [illegible] to the town.

The Board of Appeals [illegible] to approve or deny the project during its [illegible] meeting. The Board is expected at the very least to close the public hearing portion of the permitting process.

ships, romantic relationships, and family life; competition for college entrance, including competition for Advanced Placement and Honors courses in high school; the balance between school work, grades, and extracurricular activities like sports and clubs; and the desire to have the "ideal" physical appearance.

Prescription medications appeal to teens for many different reasons. They are perceived safer when compared to street drugs such as heroin or cocaine. They are easily accessible. Also, teens view these medications as legal because they are doctor prescribed and FDA approved. In reality, these drugs are as dangerous and illegal as their street counterparts. (Note: If a teen takes a prescription medication that has not been specifically prescribed for that teen, it is an illegal act.)

Prescription drugs that are most commonly abused fall into the following categories: narcotics, stimulants, depressants and steroids.

Narcotics

OxyContin® (or "Oxy") is a prescription painkiller, much like Percoset ®, and is used for moderate to high pain relief associated with injuries, bursitis, dislocation, fractures, neuralgia, arthritis, lower back pain and pain associated with cancer. It contains oxycodone, the medication's active ingredient, in a timed-release tablet. It is the most powerful narcotic in a pill. The drug produces opiate-like effects and is sometimes used as a substitute for heroin. Most individuals who abuse this drug do so to gain euphoric effects, relieve pain and to avoid withdrawal symptoms.

A similar drug, Palladone™, is even stronger than Oxy and is used for the same purposes.

Often it's the "good" kids, the ones trying to do the best that they can who get hooked. In the early stages, teens will report that they felt "focused" and "did better on the drug" than they did without it. The overwhelming euphoria associated with opiate drugs leads them to feel calm, warm and stress-free. Once addiction takes hold, however, teens reported that they "need them just to get out of bed."

On the street, this Oxy costs about $80 per pill - or about $1 per milligram. Once they can no longer afford Oxy, users often turn to a significantly cheaper alternative, heroin.

Stimulants

Adderall® and Ritalin®, both medications used to treat attention deficit disorder with hyperactivity, are amphetamines or stimulants. Like cocaine and methamphetamine, these drugs elevate mood, increase feelings of well-being, and increase energy and alertness, often producing a feeling of euphoria in users.

The most misused prescription stimulants due to easy accessibility, teens report that they take Adderall® or Ritalin® in order to enhance academic performance. Illicit stimulants are also used as a diet drug.

Depressants

Benzodiazepine, a class of drugs that depresses the central nervous system includes such prescription depressants such as Valium®, Xanax®, Rohypnol, and Klonopin®. These drugs are prescribed to treat anxiety and panic attacks. As a class, they slow down the heart rate and breathing slightly. They are most often abused to increase the affects of narcotics like heroin. When taken with alcohol (also a depressant), these drugs can cause a multiple affect, increasing alcohol intoxication.

The physical effects of depressants include a drunken appearance and a pronounced nystagmus (a constant, involuntary, cyclical movement of the eyeball). The onset of symptoms occurs within 20 minutes. Impairment can last 8 hours or longer. These drugs can also reduce or remove the user's inhibitions. They can also cause blackouts and memory loss that may last for days.

Steroids

Anabolic steroids are a group of powerful compounds that are synthetic derivatives of the male sex hormone testosterone. Steroids are legally available by prescription to treat conditions that occur when the body produces abnormally low amounts of testosterone, such as delayed puberty and some types of impotence. They are also prescribed to treat body wasting in patients with AIDS and other diseases that result in loss of lean muscle mass.

Today, athletes and others abuse anabolic steroids to enhance performance and also to improve physical appearance. Anabolic steroid abuse results in aggression and other psychiatric side effects such as hallucinations, paranoia, anxiety and depression, which can lead to violence. Researchers report that users may suffer from delusions and impaired judgment stemming from feelings of invincibility.

Major side effects from abusing anabolic steroids can include liver tumors and cancer, jaundice, fluid retention, high blood pressure, increases in LDL (bad cholesterol), and decreases in HDL (good cholesterol). Other side effects include kidney tumors, severe acne, and trembling. In addition, there are some gender-specific side effects:

o For males - shrinking of the testicles, reduced sperm count, infertility, baldness, development of breasts, increased risk for prostate cancer.

o For females - growth of facial hair, male-pattern baldness, changes in or cessation of the menstrual cycle, enlargement of the clitoris, deepened voice.

o For adolescents - growth halted prematurely through premature skeletal maturation and accelerated puberty changes. This means that adolescents risk remaining short for the remainder of their lives if they take anabolic steroids before the typical adolescent growth spurt.

OTC's: Non-Criminal Drug Abuse

If you're like most people, you're probably not aware that a number of over-the-counter (OTC) products can potentially be abused by teens looking to get high.

Over-the-counter drugs are abused for the same reasons that street or prescription drugs are. The particular danger with these drugs is that they are very easily available - usually only a local drug store away.

Because these substances are so readily available, detailed names and descriptions will not be provided within this article. If you should have any questions about commonly misused and abused OTC's, please contact your child's physician, the website resources provided alongside with this article, or the Wilmington Police Department.

The best way to avoid misuse or abuse of prescription and over-the-counter medications is to stop it before it starts. Take the time to talk to your children about the difference between "use" and "abuse". Speak with your child's physician when a prescription is necessary. Find out from the doctor whether a substitute medication - one that the patient is not likely to be able to misuse or abuse - is available. If no such substitute exists, ask your doctor to prescribe a limited supply; a few days' worth of medication rather than a whole month's worth. Inventory your medicine cabinet and dispose of unnecessary medications.

The fourth Citizens Drug Awareness session on Wednesday, March 22nd, will focus on drug-facilitated sexual assault and how parents can break communication barriers when talking to their kids about drugs.

the Board wished to simply issue a warning.

According to Lingenfelter, the letter is not entirely accurate as there were no feces.

Lingenfelter concedes that his actions were drastic, but asserts that he was left with little alternative.

"That action was because of inaction on the part of the Health Department," Lingenfelter said. "It is endemic of what is wrong with Town Hall right now, which I would be able to fix as a member of the Board of Selectmen."

According to Lingenfelter, prior to the incident, he had been seeking assistance from the Health Department for several years to address a public health issue involving chickens being kept by his next-door neighbor. In addition to subjecting his family to an unpleasant odor, according to Lingenfelter, the chickens would sometimes get loose and wander into his yard, attracting coyotes.

"I had chicken corpses in my yard and coyotes running around in my yard," Lingenfelter said. "I put up with it for years. The only reason I went that far was because I have a small child. I was defending my family. Prior to having a family I didn't do that."

According to Erickson, Department of Health employees did visit Lingenfelter's home to investigate the matter, but were unable to detect an odor while on the premises.

"If an issue goes to court, I must have physical evidence or have witnessed the issue firsthand," Erickson said. "Otherwise my testimony would be nothing but hearsay. I completely understand how that could be frustrating to a homeowner, but if it is an odor complaint, we must be able to smell the odor while we're there."

According to Erickson, his department is prepared to make multiple visits to a location in the course of an investigation, and has done so on many occasions, in order to obtain evidence or firsthand exposure to an issue.

"I told Mr. Lingenfelter before the incident that if there were chicken remains in his yard, to call us and we would come out to investigate," Erickson said.

Lingenfelter is surprised that the 2003 incident would surface at this time, and believes it has been brought up as nothing more than an attempt to smear his campaign. In the long run, however, he believes that he has been vindicated. Following a July 15, 2003 Board of Health hearing, his neighbor's permit to keep chickens was revoked by unanimous vote of the Board.

"I think I've been proven right, in that the Board of Health did finally do something and the issue was resolved," Lingenfelter said. "Not only was that drastic of an action necessary on my part to get the Health Department to do their job, but I also had to go to the expense of hiring an attorney to represent myself and family. I do not believe that the average citizen would be willing and/or be able to afford hiring an attorney to preserve their rights as I was forced to do. I do not believe that it speaks well of the Heath Department that a citizen has to hire an attorney to prove they are serious about having corrective action taken by the town, which the town should have done in the first place without having to drag the issue on for several years."

Lingenfelter has long contemplated a run for the Board of Selectmen. The final push for him to throw his hat in the ring was the current board's recent decision to reappoint Town Manager Michael Caira for a three-year term.

"I'm a fighter and I'm not intimidated," Lingenfelter said. "The same type of tenacity that I've used to solve my own problems, I'll bring to the job of selectman."

Kay Scanlon

She was hired as a full-time clerk in the Assessor's office in [illegible] and remained in that role after accepting the position of Assistant Town Clerk in 1977.

As Assistant Town Clerk, Kay worked under Esther Russell and then Pat Ward before being promoted to the position herself in 1992.

"When I came to work for the town I never thought I'd have the good fortune to follow in the footsteps of such outstanding town clerks as Esther Russell and Pat Ward," Kay said. "They taught me so much and were so wonderful to work for."

Wilmington is not the little town it was when Kay first returned to the workplace in 1969, but the she believes it has managed to retain its charm.

"Even though the town has grown and changed, we still have a hometown feel," Kay said. "This is a great place to live."

Certainly the volume of work increases proportionately along with population increases, and a town clerk must remain up to date on ever changing election laws and procedures, but the day-to-day job function that Kay will miss the most is her interaction with the public. She has always felt rewarded by assisting residents negotiate through voter registration, birth certificates, various licenses, and marriage licenses.

"People come into this office looking for help in a lot of different things," Kay said. "I will miss the daily involvement with the residents and with my colleagues. The people of Wilmington have been wonderful to me. They know I work hard for them."

The Town Clerk's office conducts the administration of all election proceedings and in 1993, Kay was faced with the most difficult experience she was to encounter on the job - a recall effort to remove two School Committee members. The recall effort followed on the heels of a scandal that gained widespread regional media attention surrounding an incident of hazing among Wilmington High School football players.

Wilmington had never before dealt with a recall election. In the end, the recall vote failed, but hard feelings were not dispensed with easily or quickly.

"That was an issue that deeply divided the community and was very upsetting," Kay said. "It was a learning experience that I hope the town never has to go through again."

In June of 2001 Kay was faced with a devastating personal loss; the loss of her husband. The community rallied around the Scanlon family, showering them with love and support, for which Kay is eternally grateful. She hesitates during the interview and wishes softly as she momentarily gazes out the window that she could share her upcoming retirement with her husband.

She doesn't deny counting the days leading up to the end of this month, but she will very much miss the people she works with.

"Everyone who has worked for me has always wished for me to do well and that is such a great thing," Kay said. "The Town Manager is the greatest boss that anyone could ever ask for."

What with town elections and the annual town meeting, the month of April is an especially busy month for the town clerk's office. For that reason, Kay's garden gets a late start every year.

But not this year.

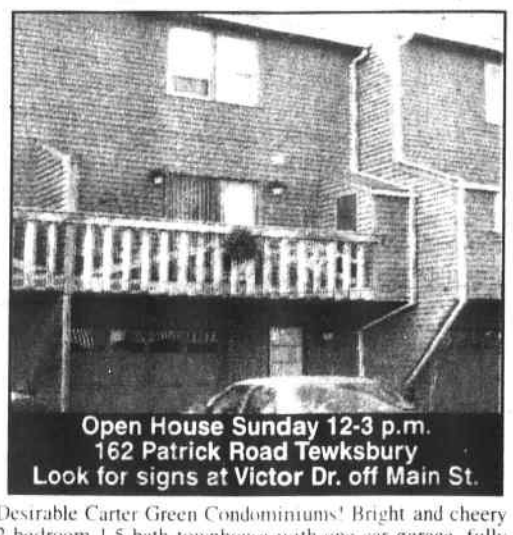

She'll be happily tending her garden and spending much more time with her 11 grandchildren (including two sets of twins) during the spring of 2006 and forward. She's earned the time off and the Town of Wilmington is a far better place for her having served it.

Kay will be honored at the Casa di Fior on Thursday March 30th. The celebration will begin with a cocktail hour at 6:00 p.m. with dinner being served at 7:00 p.m.

Shawsheen Rams eliminated in sectional semi-final

Incredible comeback falls short

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BILLERICA -The Shawsheen Tech hockey team saw their amazing season as well as the brilliant career of their coach Bill Gordon come to an end Friday night at the Chelmsford Forum in the semi-finals of the Division 3 North Tournament with a 5-4 loss to Savio Prep.

Savio Prep's Jake Sullivan scored with 39 seconds remaining in the game to give the Spartans a 4-3 lead and end a dramatic comeback bid by the Rams that saw them score three times in less than six minutes to erase a 3-0 deficit heading into the period, including two goals in less than a minute late in the period by freshman defenseman Mike DeRosa of Wilmington.

Savio would add an empty net goal with 30 seconds remaining and the Rams capped the scoring with just over a second left in the game to account for the final, but it was that thrilling third period comeback, the final period of Gordon's 27 year career as head coach of the Rams that had fans from both teams buzzing.

"The fat lady has sung on Bill Gordon's career," Gordon laughed in the moments after the game. "But you have to appreciate the way we fought back, and that's a tribute to these kids. And you know what I like? Everybody walking out of here is talking about one team tonight, and it's us."

The Rams weren't giving people much to talk about over the first two periods when they were outscored 3-0 and out shot 30-8. But thanks to the efforts of junior goalie Joe Cardinale, who had 40 saves on the night, they were still in the game enough to hope for a comeback and that's exactly what they set about doing from the moment the puck was dropped to start the third period.

While the first two periods had featured not only a domination in shots on net, but also territorial play for Savio, the Rams changed that almost instantly in the third period, with several chances in the opening minutes including a great bid by Jason Buckley of Wilmington at 1:35 of the period and a nice rush by Troy Daniels about four minutes in.

Five minutes into the period, Cardinale came up with two great saves from point blank range in front of the net to keep the Rams within striking distance and it paid off moments later when Shaun Suprey got the Rams on the board with a nice wrist shot after a great feed from Craig Chestnut, who set up Suprey all alone in front of the Savio net at 6:09.

Still, things looked pretty grim for the Rams when they failed to convert on a power play and still trailed by two goals as they lined up for a faceoff in the Savio end with less than four minutes left in the game.

But Shawsheen's Dan Hanafin won the draw cleanly back to DeRosa who rifled a shot past stunned Savio goalie Albert Mascone to pull the Rams within 3-2 with 3:44 left in the game. With exactly 3:00 left, it looked like DeRosa had tied the game with another slapshot from the point, that appeared to go in under the crossbar, but the referee, according to Gordon ruled that the puck never went in the net.

"He said it hit the crossbar and came straight down. He had the best view of it," Gordon said. "I told him that I hope he was very confident in his decision given what was riding on this game, and to his credit, he said he felt very confident with his decision."

It hardly mattered, however, when 11 seconds later DeRosa rifled a shot from just beyond center ice and it trickled through the pads of Mascone for a tie game sending the partisan Shawsheen crowd at the Forum into a frenzy.

The Rams had the momentum and it looked like they had the talented and battle tested Mascone on the ropes. But Savio called a timeout and regrouped. For a couple of moments it appeared that Cardinale's heroics would help send the Rams to overtime as he made a pair of outstanding saves, including a diving stop with 50 seconds left to keep the game deadlocked.

Shawsheen Tech senior defenseman Jared Ederman takes a shot from the point during the team's earlier state tournament win over Tyngsboro, played at the Chelmsford Forum. The Rams were defeated on Friday night by Savio Prep, 5-4.

"Joe struggled a little early in the game. He's only been in the starting role six or seven times this season and he is still a rookie when it comes to games like this," Gordon said. "But he really played well down the stretch when we needed some great saves because we were gambling offensively."

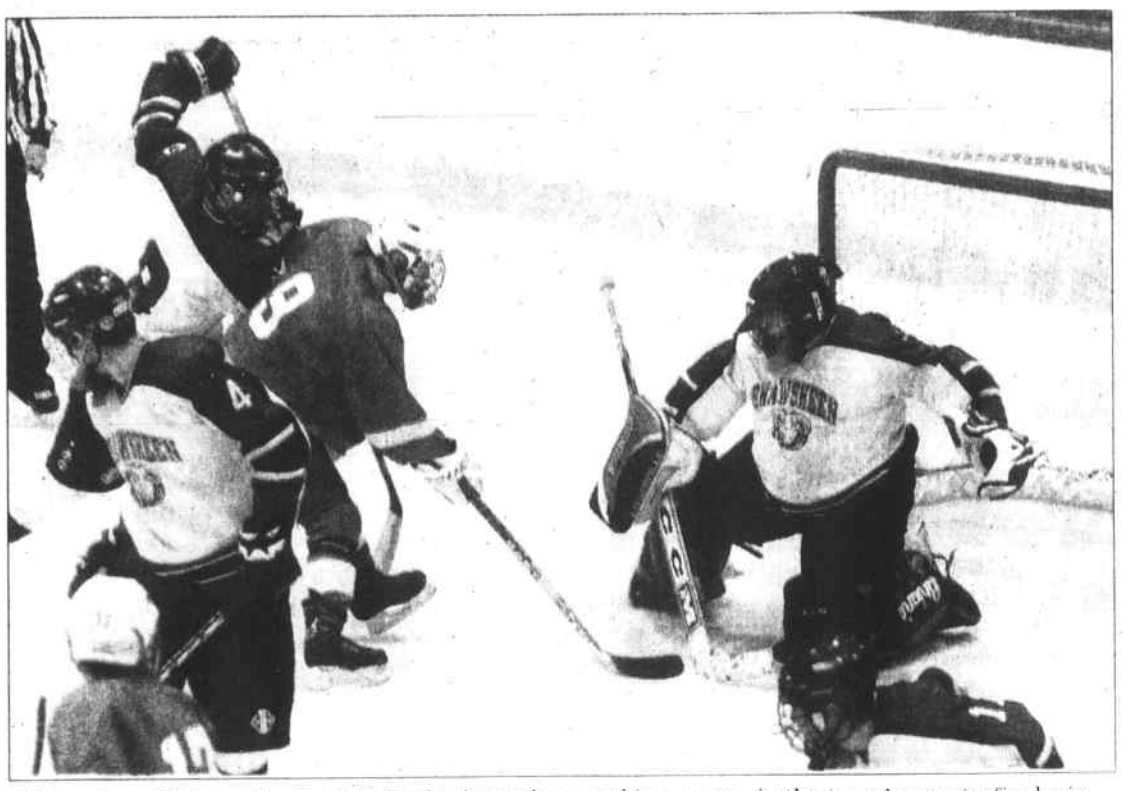

Unfortunately not even Cardinale's heroics could stop Sullivan on the winning goal as he was camped out on the right post and received a perfect feed from teammate Pat Loftus before tapping it home. Cardinale never had a chance.

While the comeback ultimately fell short, it did not diminish the effort in the eyes of Gordon, who pointed to a couple of reasons for his team's ability to come back.

"We started to gamble a little more having a wing hang a little. But really the turnaround was in here," Gordon said pointing to his heart. "It was in here and no place else."

The Rams trailed 2-0 after the first period on Savio goals by John Collins at 4:12 and then what turned out to be an absolute killer of a shorthanded goal by Jim Caruso at 14:45 after a failed pass back to the point by the Rams in the Spartans end.

Savio extended their lead to 3-0 on an unassisted goal by P.J. Fulton just 2:20 into the second period, and out shot the Rams 19-3 in the frame, but Cardinale made several outstanding stops to keep the Rams in the game before the third period heroics.

Shawsheen Tech goalie Joe Cardinale shown here making a save in the team's quarterfinal win over Tyngsboro, made 40 saves in the team's exciting loss to Savio Prep on Friday night.

Gordon's final game an all-time classic

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

BILLERICA -- It's difficult sometimes as sportswriters, not to get caught up in the moment. You try not to dwell on too many mediocre things making them out to something they are not.

But on Friday night, certainly there's no mistaken what the Shawsheen Tech boys hockey team did in the third period, not to mention the outstanding job head coach Bill Gordon did in 27 years at the Tech.

The 15 minutes that the Rams played in the third period of the Division 3 North sectional semi-final hockey game against Savio Prep certainly was one of the greatest comebacks I've witnessed on the ice in my 13 years with a notebook, microphone and keyboard attached to my side.

And it's something Gordon shouldn't forget, and certainly won't forget the rest of his life.

Gordon made it know several weeks ago that this would be his last year behind the bench. In his 27 years at the Tech, he won 15 league titles, 373 games, two sectional championships, made two trips to the state final, and captured the Division 3 state championship in 1984. That's a very impressive resume. But Friday was the banner of it all.

Trailing 3-0 going to the final period against a very skilled, talented and strong skating team that possessed two of the betters players in the state with Andrew MacCormack and Evan Yanovitch, Shawsheen was on its last legs. The Rams were outshot 27-9 after two periods and really had as much offensive punch as Gilbert who tried to take on the Jocks in the original "Revenge of the Nerds" movie.

But just like the movie, in this case, the Rams took over.

"(After the second period) I just reminded (the team) who they are and what they represent," said Gordon. "They represent their fathers who played for me, they represent themselves and each other. These kids just don't give up. No matter the odds, they do not give up."

Through the first six minutes of the third period, Shawsheen was all over the Spartans but had nothing to show for it. But with 8:51 to go, Shawn Suprey got the Rams on the board on a nice set up from Craig Chestnut.

Five minutes later, that weak punch from Gilbert turned into a devastating right hook from Tie Domi. The Rams scored three goals in a span of 55 seconds, with one being disallowed, but the second tally from Wilmington resident Mike DeRosa came from a slap shot just over center ice, 11 seconds after the referees ruled the previous goal didn't cross the goal line.

Now with the game tied at 3-3, the crowd at the Chelmsford Forum in Billerica went as

Brilliant career comes to an end for veteran coach

By MIKE IPPOLITO

Shawsheen Tech hockey coach Bill Gordon saw his career come to and at least one game too early last Friday night when his Rams were eliminated from post season play with a tough 5-4 loss to Savio Prep in the semi-finals of the Division 3 North Tournament at the Chelmsford Forum.

While Gordon, who was elected to the Massachusetts High School Hockey Hall of Fame in 2004, his players and all Shawsheen fans would have loved to have seen the legendary coach wrap up his 27 year career with a sectional championship, it is difficult to think that Gordon went out as anything but a winner after his team's performance against a more talented Savio Prep squad that had a 3-0 lead entering the third period and will be making their third straight trip to the sectional championship game.

The Rams put together a furious rally and managed to tie the game in the final minutes before finally succumbing to the Spartans, but it is not the loss that Gordon will remember when he looks back on his last game as much as it will effort turned in by his team.

"This was a storybook season for me with these kids," Gordon said. "And they were able to send me out in the best possible manner. We did not win a championship, but the best gift they gave me was that all season including the last period, they had a never say die attitude that they always showed me.

"That (third period) was a gift for me. It mimicked all of the great teams we have had here at Shawsheen and all of the great comebacks we have had here over the years. That was my gift and I will hold that to the highest standard for the rest of my life, how they played in that third period because that is what we stand for."

The Rams actually did win a championship for Gordon in his last season, as they shared the Commonwealth Athletic Conference title with Hamilton-Wenham, the 15th title in Gordon's 27 years, to go along with 373 career wins, two sectional championships, two trips to the state finals and one state championship in 1984.

With that kind of success built at the Tech, it's hard to imagine what the decision to leave must have been like for Gordon, but as he has been able to do throughout his coaching career, he was able to put in perspective what it meant to be leaving the hockey arena as well as his teaching position at the school where he has served as a science teacher for the past 32 years.

After 27 years and 373 victories, Bill Gordon (left) has decided to step down as head hockey coach at Shawsheen Tech. His last win came at the expense of Tyngsboro and head coach Bryan Ronayne who greets Gordon with a handshake.

"If I was just a hockey coach and that was my only connection to the school, it would be more difficult," Gordon said. "But because I am a teacher first it is easier. Leaving teaching was the biggest decision that I had to make because I have always thought of myself as a teacher first."

And that focus as a teacher first is a big part of the reason that his players have not only had success on the ice, but off of it as well. You are not playing for a Bill Gordon team if you are not giving your best in the classroom as well.

"Our kids have always done a good job at keeping focused in the classroom, and having as much success there as they do on the ice," Gordon said. "When I see alumni come back and they are so successful, more successful than I am, that just shows me what we are trying to accomplish here. It also speaks very highly of a tech school which does not always get the credit it deserves."

Gordon's ability to motivate his players to excel in all aspects of life will undoubtedly be his most lasting and most important legacy. As his ability to do this through generations of athletes.

"Like me, Bill is old school," said athletic director Al Costabile. "And I like that about him. But he is also shown the ability to adapt his coaching methods to today's modern day athlete. And that's why he has continued to be successful."

The majority of fans who don't know Gordon, he will always be remembered quite simply as the hockey coach who took an already successful hockey program and carried on the tradition started by Don Ayer. Gordon came to Shawsheen in 1974 after three years at St. Mary's of Cambridge, two of which he served as head coach of a brand new hockey program.

Gordon joined Ayer's staff and served as an assistant for five years before taking over in 1979. While he was an assistant the Rams won four league titles in five years and the success continued in his first season at the helm with another CAC crown, which Gordon credits to the great program started by Ayer.

"Don Ayer was the father of Shawsheen hockey, and he left me with a terrific team," Gordon said. "Typically when you take over a program, the cupboard is bare, but Don left me with a great team and we were able to win the league."

While Gordon was successful from the start at Shawsheen, both as an assistant and as a head coach, qualifying for the state tournament in all but two years while with the team, he is no stranger to being on the losing bench either.

Gordon came out of the Army in 1971 and assisted Father Tom Curran at St. Mary's in the first year of the program when they played a junior varsity schedule. Gordon took over the program in their first year of varsity play the next season in the old Catholic Conference where they took on powerhouses like Matignon, Don Bosco and Arlington Catholic among others on a nightly basis.

In two years Gordon's teams compiled an 0-29-1 record. But the two years also served as a basis for a Hall of Fame career.

"The good news was that I learned more about coaching in those two years than I have in all the years since," Gordon said. "I was battle tested right away with the teams we had to face."

The lessons Gordon learned at St. Mary's as well as under Ayer at Shawsheen continued to pay off and reaped its ultimate reward in 1984 when the Rams went 21-0-1 and won the Division 3 state championship with a win over Dartmouth at the Boston Garden. Gordon looked back on what a dominant team he was in command of.

"That year was certainly a life memorable experience. Those kids, much like all of my teams had a tremendous work ethic," Gordon said. "But in those years they not only had that work ethic, but they also had tremendous skill. When you put that together, you are very tough to beat."

The Rams followed up their 1984 season with another outstanding campaign in 1985, going 19-4-2 and advancing to the state championship game again before falling to Westwood in double overtime.

"It was a typical Shawsheen overtime game where we dominated play, but could not score and ended up losing," Gordon recalled with a laugh.

Those were certainly outstanding teams and Gordon has had many of them over the years, but it will be this last team that may stick with Gordon the most as he looks back on his career. His players did not know until the final regular season home game that this would be their coach's last year, as in typical Gordon fashion, although he knew he was retiring, he did not want his retirement to be the focus of the teams for the entire season.

"There was a lot of emotion attached to this season for me," Gordon said. "I kept it as much of a secret as I could, and without actually knowing it, these kids provided me with an unbelievably successful final year. I had hoped this year would be as successful as possible, but this was far beyond my expectations."

Shawsheen Tech boys hockey coach Bill Gordon coached in his final game on Friday night, an exciting 5-4 loss to Savio Prep in the Division 3 North sectional semi-finals played at the Chelmsford Forum.

Recap of staff high school tourney predictions

Two weeks ago, both Jamie Pote and Mike Ippolito of the sports staff here, make predictions of how the high school state tournament brackets would pan out, the ones that involved the local teams from Wilmington, Tewksbury and Shawsheen Tech high schools.

Here's the results:

Bracket	Pote's Predictions	Actual
	Boys Hockey
Div 2	Haverhill over Danvers	Gloucester over St. Mary's
Div 3	Lowell over Savio Prep	Lowell vs Savio Prep*
	Girls Hockey
Div 2	Andover over Billerica	Reading over Wellesley
	Boys Hoop
Div 2	N. Andover over Gloucester	Winchester over L-Sudbury
Div 3	Wilmington over Minuteman	Minuteman over Watertown
	Girls Hoop
Div 2	Melrose over L-Sudbury	Melrose over Masconomet
Div 3	Swampscott over St. Mary's	Swampscott over Winthrop
Div 4	W. Tech over Matignon	Mt. Alvernia over Gr. Law.

* Lowell vs Savio Prep were playing Tuesday night.

Totals: Predicted 16 teams to reach the sectional finals, with five correct. Predicted eight teams to win sectional final, with two (possibly three) winning it. Total record of teams predicted to win the final was 28-11.

Gordon's finale as coach an all-time classic crazy as the spectators who watched Gilbert and his fellow musicians overcome the Alpha Betas.

Those few minutes of coming back, taking control of the game and completely shutting down Savio Prep, is something that made the ridiculous charge of ten dollars for fans all worthwhile.

"We started to gamble a little more having a wing hang a little. But really the turnaround was in here," Gordon said pointing to his heart. "It was in here and no place else. You have to appreciate the way we came back. That's a tribute to those kids in there because they never gave up. The way I look at this game is the people who left the building left talking about one team, and that was our team. It wasn't the one who won. That's a compliment to those kids in there and how hard they worked and how they came back."

Savio ended up coming away with the win, scoring a goal with 39 seconds left and adding an empty netter 15 seconds later. But the Rams scored their fourth (really fifth) goal of the period with one second left, making it a one-goal game.

"That was a gift for me," said Gordon. "The way the kids came back, that was a gift for me. That third period mimicked all of the great teams we've had here at Shawsheen and all of the great comebacks we've had here over the years. That was my gift and I will hold that to the highest standard the rest of my life how they played in that third period. Because that's what we stand for."

Gordon will go down, and should certainly be a guarantee lock as a Hall of Fame coach. He proved it with 373 wins and 15 league titles, and he proved it again on Friday night. He certainly has gotten the absolute most out of Shawsheen Tech kids over the past 27 years. And that's a fact. It's not getting caught up in any moment.

SuperSkills adult hockey league has opening for teams

The SuperSkills Hockey Men's spring league team cost will be $1,850 and will begin play the week of April 10th. A $500 deposit will be required to reserve a spot in the league with the balance due no later than April 28th. The league will run for ten weeks on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. A schedule will be handed out for the entire 10-week season once all teams are registered.

All games will be held at the SuperSkills Hockey Rink in Tewksbury, Ma. Any questions, you may call 978-640-9800, or pick up a registration form at SuperSkills Rink located at 20 Carter Lane, in Tewksbury.

The Wilmington High cheerleaders shown earlier during the season, finished in second place at this weekend's state competition held at North Andover High School.

Cheerleaders take second in the state

After winning the North Regional Championship on March 5th, the Wilmington High School cheerleaders competed this past weekend at the State Championship. Their near flawless routine in Division 3 allowed them to take home the second place trophy, loosing to E. Bridgewater by one point.

With their second place finish they qualified for the first ever All New England Cheering Tournament being held next weekend but have made previous plans to attend a National Competition in Williamsburg, VA.

To make it to the state competition level is an honor and proves the ladies continuous drive to be the best they can be in their division. Their routine on Sunday had some of the most difficult stunts being performed today at the high school level and they were able to perform those stunts with perfection. Their hard work really paid off and these young ladies should be extremely proud of their accomplishments this entire season (football and basketball seasons).

Their entire season consisted of two Cape Ann League titles, one North Regional Championship, one second place North Regional finish, and two second place finishes at the state level. They will now take their talents to the national level and are hoping for the first ever Wilmington High School national championship.

Good Luck ladies, we know you can do it!

The team consists of Senior/Captains Amy Butters, Brittany Collins and Charisse Marchesi. The remainder of the team is: Nicole Allan, Nicole Bonaccolto, Kendra Burke, Kim Ciampa, Amanda Ciulla, Jennelle Ciulla, Jessi C yla D'Arcangelo, Kathryn Fraser, Katelyn Gallant, Tara LeBlanc, Katie Riley, Gina Rizzo, Amy Sinclair, Maggie Sorrentino, Vicky Tanzella, Danielle Underwood, Kayla Ward, Jessy Welch, and Brittani Winn.

Thanks to the parents and fans that have supported these ladies this entire season, it is greatly appreciated!

Dean Smith nets a national title

Last weekend in Buffalo, NY the SUNY Morrisville Mustangs, three-time National Champions, including Wilmington resident Dean Smith, the teams goalie, did it again!

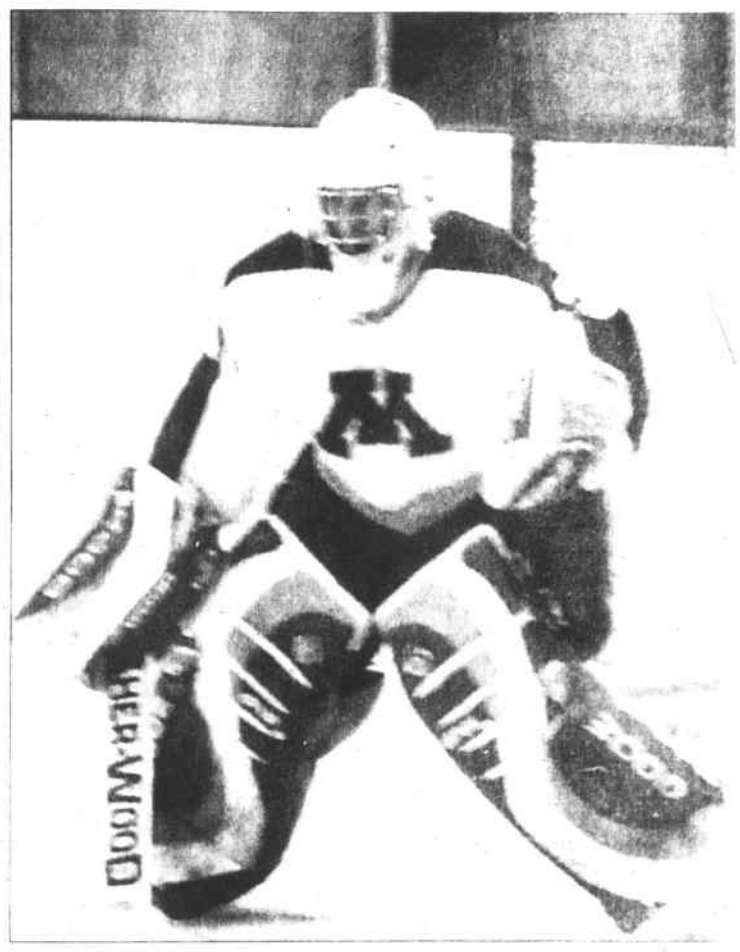

Entering as the third seed in the 35th annual national championship, the Mustangs had a tough road ahead. The Mustangs won the first game on Friday by defeating their opener to Erie CC, 7-1. They then had to face Monroe CC, the second seed and a team they had not beaten all year. They beat the Tribunes, 4-3.

Then in the title game, emotions were very high as the team entered into their last NJCAA contest. A large throng of Mustang faithful filled every available space in the Bud Bakewell Arena. From the drop of the puck on Friday afternoon, the Mustangs were not going to be denied. Each and every player played up a few notches to achieve their ultimate goal an NJCAA National Championship Ring.

This goal was achieved when they beat the first place team Northcountry CC, 4-3.

Although hurt at the time of this tournament and unable to play, Smith led his team to this point by ending the season with a .883 save percentage. He has been ranked within the top four goaltenders in the league all season. He is majoring in Mechanical Engineering and achieved the honor of being placed on the Dean's List.

The Mustangs will be making the move to provisional Div. 3, NCAA status next year.

Wilmington resident Dean Smith helped the SUNY Morrisville Mustangs win its third straight NJCAA National Championship last weekend in Buffalo, New York.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Coach McCune deserves a lot of credit for winning season

Dear Jamie:

I believe its time to give Wilmington High boys basketball coach Jim McCune the credit he deserves.

I went to both Wilmington boys' basketball state tournament games and I was thoroughly impressed by his coaching job in each game. Saugus had equal talent and Wilmington won by 18. Watertown had the most talented player on the floor scoring 16 points in the first half and the Wildcats still rallied from an early deficit to have a chance to win in the closing seconds.

The Wilmington players deserve a lot of credit as well. They respect their coach and they play hard for him. They remind me of the Princeton team that beat defending champion UCLA in the first round of the 1996 NCAA tournament. They play as a team and support one another throughout the game.

Although Joe Herra is obviously their star player he follows McCune's lead as much as the last guy off the bench. This is a tell tale sign of McCune's coaching ability as well as his team's faith in him.

Let's hope Jim McCune remains the Wilmington coach for many years to come and let's applaud the Wildcats on another fabulous season.

Sincerely, Chuck Otis

Pee Wee II's take on the New Jersey Freeze

After battling through four games in 48 hours, the Wilmington Peewee II's lost the gold on a last minute goal. The team started play on Friday with a 4-3 win over the NJ Freeze.

The team came out flying building up a three goal lead midway through the second period. Brendan Munro started the scoring with an assist to Trevor Foley. Brendan Munro scored again with another assist to Trevor Foley to make it 2-0. Mark Contrado made it 3-0 with assist to Nick Pino and Joey Russell. With several other scoring chances stonewalled by the play of the Freeze goaltender, NJ scored late in the period to make it 3-1.

Momentum swung in the Freeze favor with two more scores in the third period to tie it at three. Jackie Mulrenan earned the game MVP for the Cats with a score late in the third with Chris Piscatelli assisting to produce a 4-3 win. Chris Newton played an outstanding game on defense with several good hits and steady play.

Trying to build on the win from Friday, the team came out flying again with Mark Contrado scoring an unassisted goal in the first period against a determined Montclair NJ team. With great goaltending keep the Cats at bay, Montclair tied the score midway through the second. Brendan Munro scored his third of the tournament with yet other assist to Trevor Foley to put the Cats ahead 2-1. Montclair came out flying in the third and scored quickly to start the period to tie the score.

Play went back and forth until Montclair scored with about four minutes to go. Not to be deny, Brendan Munro answer twelve seconds later with the tying score with assists to Drew Cummings and Trevor Foley. The teams continued to battle throughout the period and ended with a tie. Brendan earned the team MVP for the game with his two goals. Nick Pino had the hit of the game when he leveled an opponent at the blue line with a crushing hit.

Sitting in the drivers' seat going into their third game, the Cats needed a tie or win to guarantee a shot at the gold. With the Cranford team facing the same situation as the Cats, Cranford scored two quick goals before most people were in their seats.

With an uphill battle on their hands, the team responded with three hard earn goals to push ahead 3-2. Brendan Munro kept up his torrid scoring pace with two more goals with Trevor Foley assisting on both and Chris Piscatelli scored the other with Nick DiRienzo and Jackie Mulrenan assisting.

The Cranford team could not be denied and came back with three unanswered goal to go up 5 -3. Mark Contrado scored in the third with Nick Pino assisting to cut the lead to one. Cranford came right back to make the lead two goals again.

The Cats fought back and surrendered an empty net goal for the final of 7-4. Chris Piscatelli received player of the game for the Cats. Cam Babine played a steady game on the wing with great back and fore checking throughout the game. Not to be over shadowed in the hitting department by Nick, Scott Layton had the check of the tournament with a bone crushing hit in the second period that caused a tremor that registered on Richter scale.

With the team needing the other game to end in a tie to get to the gold game, things didn't look good. But what else happens in Lake Placid but miracles as the teams ended in a tie. With a second chance at the Cranford team, the team played its best game of the tournament.

Scoring first early in the second period, Scott Layton did his impression of Bobby Orr or Ray Bourque and skated through the Cranford team with a wrap around goal to put the Cats ahead 1-0.. Mark Contrado assisted on the play. Cranford fought back and tied the score late in the second. The Cats came out determined in third and scored early with a pretty goal. Nick DiRienzo scored on a great shot and just as great pass from Jackie Mulrenan to put the team up 2-1.

Both goalies fought off several scoring plays with Nick Luise continuing his stellar play in the tournament. Nick also played three games for the one team and participated in the skills competition. Nick slept well Sunday night for sure. Cranford fought back and scored two late goals with the last coming with less than a minute to play to go up 3-2.

With the goalie pulled the Cats put the pressure on and had several scoring chances and didn't stop until the final buzzer rang. It was not to be this time and the Cats came up on the short end of a 3-2 score. Mike Ciampi received the MVP and Frankie Cerbone the Sportsman award for the game.

The team was supported throughout the tournament by the other teams, friends and family and responded with great efforts throughout the weekend. All and all the kids and adults had a great experience at Lake Placid that will be remember by all.

The Wilmington Middle School hockey team enjoyed a successful inagural season, including reaching the championship game on Sunday night.

Middle School hockey team reaches final

No doubt about it, both Wilmington Middle School teams had good first seasons, in fact so good that they both made it into the championship finals in their respective tiers last Sunday at Philips Academy. Uncannily, both ended up playing Masconomet in their winner-take-all season closers. But the long and short of it is that it for both teams it was Masco that ended up writing the coda for their seasons, albeit a little differently in each case.

Both the Tier 1 and Tier 2 teams fell to the Chieftains Sunday, the Tier 1 team by a score of 2-1 and the Tier 2 team by a margin of 3-2, to give Masco bragging rights until next year when the Middle School League begins its second year.

For the Tier 1 group, which had defeated Masco twice previously, it was Masco, aggressiveness and some sloppy passing that kept it back on its heels and Masco in the driver's seat for a good part of the game. Still, all the pressure the Chieftains brought to bear on Wilmington and standout goalie Tyler Stillings only resulted in one goal through two periods -- and even that one was the result of a fortunate bounce.

With 4:08 left in the first period, a Masco defender let a hard, low shot go from the left side that missed the net wide, but had enough steam to take a good carom off the back boards. That hard carom found its way to the right side of the net to a waiting winger who did not hesitate to one-time it into the right corner of the net before Stillings could adjust and cover it.

Some fast paced play followed for the balance of the period and through the second until, with four minutes left, Wilmington's Brendan Collins flipped a hard shot from the blue line that found its way under the Masco goalie's pads to tie it at one for a jubilant Wildcat squad.

Unfortunately for Wilmington, former Wildcat and now Chieftain Charlie Gendron took a chance with a shot from the slot with 2:39 to go in the game and landed the game winner for Masconomet.

Wildcat Tom Quilty also booked an assist in Wilmington's losing effort. Netminder Stillings was solid with 21 saves.

UMass Lowell offers hitting clinics

The UMass Lowell baseball team will host a three-day clinic from Monday Apr. 17 to Wednesday, Apr. 19 at LeLacheur Park.

The clinic will be conducted by second-year head coach Ken Harring and his staff as well as members of the UMass Lowell baseball team and is open to boys and girls aged 6-12 years.

The clinic will begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. and will run until noon and costs $100. Families with more than one child attending will receive a $10 discount per child.

Instruction will emphasize fun, fundamentals, repetition and skills that players can utilize at home.

Registration forms can be obtained by logging on to www.goriverhawks.com/baseball/campInfo.htm, or by contacting Ken Harring at 978-934-2344 or ken_harring@uml.edu.

Checks can be made payable to UMass Lowell, and registration forms can be faxed to 978-934-4005, or mailed to UMass Lowell Baseball Clinics, One University Avenue, Costello Gym, Lowell, MA, 01854.

Squirt A's get through grueling stretch of hockey

The Wilmington Squirt A hockey team just finished off a grueling stretch of their schedule running from Feb school vacation right thru the 2nd week of March. Included in that stretch was a trip up north to beautiful, frigid, and snowy Lake Placid NY.

Before embarking on their journey to the Olympic Village the A team played three tough games in Dual State and Valley League action, losing two close games and tying another. The Wildcats played very well offensively in an 8-5 loss to a high flying Watertown team in Cambridge, but Watertown just had too much fire power in this shootout.

For the Cats, Zack Blanch scored twice in this game, with Michelle Alonardo, Kevin Meuse, and Stevie Ciampa tallying the others. Ciampa also dished out two assists, while Matt DiOrio, Mike DiOrio, Cody McGowan, Nick DiStefano, and Dillon DiNatale all added nice helpers of their own.

After the Watertown game that same night the team skated over to Ristuccia where the Billerica Indians were waiting. Wilmington came out flying here and took a 2-0 lead in the first period when Zack Blanch took a nice Dillon DiNatale feed and found the back of the net, then Michelle Alonardo was set up beautifully by Steve Ciampa and Cody McGowan. Billerica clawed their way back in it and eventually wore the tired Wildcats down for a hard fought 3-2 win.

Goalie Drew Foley was superb between the pipes while defensemen Dan Luise, Tommy Townsend, Brooks Carter, and Nick DiStefano played brilliantly in front of him. The Cats just couldn't beat the Billerica goalie after their two first period goals.

Up in Lake Placid the kids (parents too) had the time of their lives with all the activities going on, plus the fact they got to play games on all three Olympic rinks including the 1980 USA "gold medal winning rink". Among other things, they also got to skate around (more like fly around) on the Olympic speed skating oval one night.

Here's where we got to see just how fast some of the parents can still skate too. As far as hockey goes the team finished fourth just missing out on a bronze medal in the tournament they were entered in. Turns out that a select team from the entire state of Rhode Island won the gold by breezing thru the other "town teams" in the bracket.

No rest for the weary as no sooner was everyone unpacked (probably not) after returning Sunday night, back to school Monday etc, the team had to hit the Hockeytown ice surface Tuesday night for a Dual State tilt against Melrose. Both teams went at each other hard and battled to a 1-1 tie. Zack Blanch assisted by Nick DiStefano was the lone scorer for Wilmington, and Drew Foley as usual, stood on his head in the cage for the Wildcats.

The last game of this wild schedule for the Squirt A's was a Valley League contest in their backyard at Ristuccia. The team came out and played one of their finest games of the season in a bruising 2-1 win over season long nemesis Saugus.

After a tough scoreless first period Wilmington drew 1st blood when Stevie Ciampa fired a Brooks Carter rebound over the Saugus goalie for a 1-0 lead two minutes into the second period. Both teams had many quality scoring chances after that as Saugus pressed for the equalizer and the Wildcats looked for that all important second goal.

Finally with two minutes left in the second period Michelle Alonardo dug the puck out from the right corner, slid it over to the other corner to Ciampa, and he fed it to center Cody McGowan in front. Cody jammed it home for the 2-0 lead which the Cats took into the second intermission.

Wilmington knew, that Saugus would be charging hard in the third so goalie Drew Foley was prepared for everything but the kitchen sink coming his way. He was spectacular in goal, including a flashing glove save that left the Saugus players with their mouths wide open. It would have made Gerry Cheevers proud. Saugus finally broke thru with a power play goal with four minutes left but that was as close as they'd get as the Wildcats skated off the Ristuccia freeze with a hard earned 2-1 victory.

The defense were on top of their game in this one as Dan Luise broke up several Saugus rushes, brothers Mike and Matt DiOrio showed their speed in coming back to thwart the frustrated Saugus forwards over and over, and Brooks Carter was a rock that nobody could penetrate all game long. Also forwards Zack Blanch, Dillon DiNatale, and Nick DiStefano despite being kept off the score sheet, were flying at both ends of the ice all game long.

Wilmington needed everyone to give a little extra in this game because they were a couple players short. Tommy Townsend missed the game and Kevin Meuse was relegated to the bench after one shift because of a knee injury.

The Squirt A team now gets a little breather before the stretch run, as they do not play a game for two weeks because of some rescheduling.

Sixth graders go down 'til the end

The game: Wilmington vs Haverhill. The place: Westford Academy. The stakes: Win and move on to the next round, the semi finals; Lose and the regular season is over.

That's what was up for grabs for the Wilmington Wildcat 6th grade basketball team this past Saturday. Will their third match up against The Haverhill Lightning this year be a win or a loss?

The game was played like the others against their opponent. A tough game with a lot of fouls, a lot of great defense and clutch play by both sides. Coach Osgood had been working some new strategy into their game plan and was hoping to tilt the edge in their favor early, but the Haverhill coach had some strategy of his own as the teams battled back and forth with very little offense.

Philip Lentini had a nice game defensively as his defense aggravated the opponent's guards. Michael Brent was another stand out on defense as his quickness enabled him to stay with their speedy point guard, not allowing penetration to the hoop.

The play was solid from both ends and Wilmington was able to hang with Haverhill and their big Center, whose presence underneath was strong early on. But Wilmington's Kyle Peach played aggressively and was able to snag 6 boards (11 for the game) and keep him in check.

Also helping out under the boards was forward Kyle Albanese, as his strength and agility was key in keeping an eye on the forwards from The Lightning. Kyle added a nice follow up lay-up and a few rebounds. Outside, Tim McCarthy was a juggler with the ball as he weaved around the defense and found his open teammates.

The first half ended tight, 22-18 Haverhill and the tension could be felt in the air as this first round playoff game was just heating up.

In the second half, Guard Vin Scifo got in a groove as he hit a three-pointer and three other baskets driving nicely to the hoop. He finished up with 13 for the game, adding four assists and four steals. Nathan Grimley showed good hustle and played some solid defense, especially on the three point threat outside.

Jacob Russo and Cole Peffer played some solid minutes, usually spelling each other. They combined for 6 rebounds, a couple steals, and two blocked shots. Showing some spark to the offense, Steve Reynolds added two boards and three steals, always moving and keeping his hands close to the ball causing turnovers. The game was close in the second half partly because of the strong effort by John Parsons. When his team-mate was in foul trouble, he came in and took over making this game interesting down the stretch. He added 15 rebounds giving him the game high.

As time winded down to under a minute, Wilmington found themselves down by three points and one timeout left, which Coach Osgood used to set up a play. Scifo passed into Parsons who found Scifo for a three point shot. The shot went a little wide and Parsons got the rebound and was fouled. He made one of two and Haverhill got the board and he was immediately fouled.

Down two points, Wilmington had an outside chance if the free throws were missed. They made the 1st and missed the second shot. But Haverhill snagged the loose ball rebound icing the victory over Wilmington 37-35. It was a hard fought game by both teams. Haverhill went on to lose to eventual champion Westford, their second in two years.

The boys had a great season, finishing 16-6 and fourth place in the competitive Merrimack Valley League. Many thanks to the coaches, Chuck Osgood and Carl Lentini who did a fantastic job. Also kudos to Mike Albanese for helping out with the stats and to Jerry McCarthy for running the clock, doing the book, and helping coach. But most of all, great job to the boys on the team who worked hard, played hard, put their heart and soul into this season, and kept their heads high even in defeat.

Tewksbury Squirt C's take on Amesbury in a rematch

The Tewksbury Squirt C team, sponsored by Tewksbury Masonry and Landscaping, Inc won all three games this weekend. The first game was their best of the season, playing a tough Amesbury team who had just beat us 8-4 two weeks ago.

The team came prepared to do battle. Solid defense and goaltending was the key to a 4-0 victory. Taylor Lirakis posted her second straight shutout, stopping all pucks coming her way. The defense of Paul Rice, Kevin Chiara and Alyssa Post was unbelieveable, as no one got past them. Most impressive defensively was Darren Sullivan, who was playing his first game on defense.

Darren repeatedly shut down Amesbury's best scorer, holding them without a shot on net. Nick Cervizzi provided all the goals with another hat trick - actually 4 goals - with assists going to Adam Lee and Kevin Chiara.

The forechecking of Tyler Abele, Justin LaCau and Freddy Pendleton made it almost impossible for Amesbury to get the puck out of their end. Centers Jordan Mathieson and Bryant Bonaiuto were instrumental in keeping Amesbury scoreless with tireless back checking all game long. And last but certainly not least, Johnny Robinsons' continued hustle and scoring chances were a big part of our success. This was a complete team effort with every player playing their best hockey of the season.

The second game of the weekend was a Tewksbury win by forfeit. Evidently Methuen got the word that we are a force to be reckoned with and decided not to show up to play us. So in true Tewksbury style we scrimmaged ourselves and made it a fun game. The last game of the weekend was another victory for Tewksbury, playing a good Andover team. Tewksbury managed a 3-2 win with another complete team effort.

Once again, Nick Cervizzi provided most of the scoring, putting in two of the three goals. In her first game back from not feeling well, Chelsee Porcaro sparked up her team with constant hustle and back checking. Once again, Johnny Robinson was all around the net looking for a goal, but was denied by a very good Andover goalie.

The defense of Paul Rice, Alyssa Post, Darren Sullivan and Kevin Chiara proved too tough for the Andover team to overcome. Adam Lee, Justin LaCau, Freddy Pendleton and Jordan Mathieson were unbelievable at fore checking while Tyler Abele and Bryant Bonaiuto won most of their face-offs.

Once again, Taylor Lirakis came up big in net stopping some great shots down the stretch. With the game tied 2-2 with four minutes to go, Ryan Finneral took it upon himself to score a beautiful goal in the style of Bobby Orr, carrying the puck end to end and finishing with a great shot into the net. Hero of the day: Ryan Finneral!

Hornets buzz ruins Magic's chances

Senior Division
Hornets 31, Magic 25

The Magic girls had their hands full against a swarming Hornets team. Down early in the game due to a solid press defense by the Hornets, the Magic had to dig down deep to bring the game within reach. During the fourth quarter, it got interesting as the Magic girls climbed within 5 points.

Seven of the girls on the Magic had scored a basket or more, but in the end it would not be enough to overcome a determined Hornets squad. Kathryn Anzuoni had a great game defensively by fighting and diving for every loose ball, giving the Magic girls more opportunities.

Other contributors for the Magic were Stephanie Wogan (2 points), Brook Alukonis (2 points), Rachael London (2 points). Great Season Girls! On to the playoffs!

Spurs beat the Heat

Junior Division
Comets 14, Storm 12

Scoring for the Comets were Caitlin Morris (6 pts.), Olivia Gallella, Shannon McLaughlin, Rachel Kelleher and Mikaela Strobel (2 pts. each).

Scoring for the Storm were Meaghan Blaisdell (6 pts.), Kaitlyn Gordon, Brittany Sullivan and Britnee Dell-Arriprete (2 pts. each).

Mercury 26, Monarchs 16

High scorers for the Mercury were Rachel Pendleton (10 pts.), Melissa Peters (8 pts.) and Devlin Frost (4 pts.).

The Monarchs put in a valiant effort against a strong Mercury team. Paige Walker and Noel Pellegrini made several outstanding passes. Marissa Conlin, Renee Stronach and Rachel Stronach put in solid performances at guard.

Scoring for the Monarchs were Melissa Mackey, Nicole Hamel and Allyson Braciska (4 pts. each) and Leanne Lozowski (2 pts.).

Defensive players of the game were Michelle Hopkinson and Mackenzie Carr. The coaching staff is proud as each player never gave up.

Liberty 21 vs. Rockers 8

Scoring for the Liberty were Allison Tierney (5 pts.), Stephanie Champoux and Meredith Bonugli (4 pts. each), Kelly Quigley, Samantha Lopolito, Erin Morrissey and Sarah Small (2 pts. each). Scoring for the Rockers were Meghan Sears (4 pts.) and Shana Chartienitz and Devin Kelly (2 pts. each).

Lynx 14, Sun 13

The Lynx pulled off the biggest upset of the year, nipping the powerful Sun in a thriller. Sarah Semenza (6 pts.) swished a corner jumper with 30 seconds left in the game. Terrific game for all of the Lynx players. Haley Golini (2 pts.), Christina Fernandez (4 pts.) and Shannon Smith (2 pts.) all chipped into the scoring.

Crystal Lemos, Ashley Kelly and Lauren Intravaia all played strong games. Congratulations to the Sun team on a great year.

The Junior Division Sun battled back and forth with the speedy and determined Lynx, but it was the Lynx who got in the last shot and eliminated the Sun from the March Madness Tournament, 14-13.

Alyson Spencer, Brooke Hardy and Hannah Culwell scored four points each to pace the Sun, while Lindsey Andella added a free throw. Mariah Culwell, Abby Plant, Shanell Nardone, Jamie Cohen, Courtney Graffeo and Haley Acconcia played well defensively for the Sun.

Sparks 12, Comets 8

Scoring for the Sparks were Brooke Patterson (6 pts.), Molly Tibbetts, Haley Callahan and Bridget Casey (2 pts. each). Scoring for the Comets were Caitlin Morris (4 pts.), Mikaela Strobel and Danielle Newhall (2 pts. each).

Starzz 14, Mercury 7

Scoring for the Starzz were Nicole Chaet (8 pts.), Nicole DePierro (4 pts.) and Alyssa Post (2 pts.). Scoring for the Mercury were Melissa Peters (3 pts.), Rachel Pendleton and Devlin Frost (2 pts. each).

Intermediate Division
Jayhawks vs. Cardinals

Scoring for the Jayhawks were Sarah Hogan (5 pts.), Katelyn Doherty (4 pts.), Jamie Flynn (3 pts.), Denali Murphy and Dana Chaykovsky (2 pts. each).

Great job, Cardinals. You've all come a long way this season and even though we ended with a loss, you all played great! Scoring for the Cardinals were Amy DeFrancesco (4 pts.), Jamie Ricciardi (3 pts.), Sydnie Lopolito and Emily Wheeler (2 pts. each).

Katherine Stimpson, Erin Plunkett and Stephaine Evangelista chipped in with good passing and scrappy defense. The entire Cardinals team was named defensive players of the game! Great season, girls!

Wolverines 30, Huskies 16

The Wolverines brought it all together to pull off this win. The offense had eight out of ten players scoring and defensively very few Huskies shot from inside the key.

Scoring for the Wolverines were Brooke Mallahan (8 pts.), Jessie Bissett (5 pts.), Renee Conlin and Taylor Eloi (4 pts. each), Mary Ballway (3 pts.), Christina Lusardi, Meghan Ashley and Rachel Ragucci (2 pts. apiece).

Erin Bradley and Allison Doyle were named defensive players of the game. Great job, Wolverines!

The Huskies played one of their strongest games of the season this week, anchored by Ashley Pozzuto. Although not indicated by their record, the girls had an extremely successful season marked by many individual and team accomplishments coupled with lasting friendships.

Scoring in today's game were Nicole Dunlevy (4 pts.), Nicole McColgan and Alechia Cordeiro (3 pts. each), and Christina Dick and Ashley Pozzuto (2 pts. apiece). Great season girls! Coach Mag and Coach Brian are very proud of you all.

Terriers 18, Falcons 16

The Falcons threw everything but the kitchen sink at the Terrier team on this the start of post-season play.

The Falcons led 8 to nothing after the first quarter, taking with them the game momentum into the second. The Terriers came back to tie the game in the second quarter led by the strong combination of Francesca Pesantes (4 pts) and Arianna Medeiros (2 pts). This game would be decided by the key play of Shannon Lavargna (4 pts) and Aleska Pena (2 pts). Defensive support came from Taylor Simas (2 pts), Michelle Tully, and Sheri Liggiero. Coach Dave Pesantes acknowledged that this game could have gone in anyone's favor.

The Terriers team intensity and game play was equally matched by an extremely talented Falcons Team. Andrea Caprio's 2 points in the final quarter would be the difference sending the Terriers on to face another great challenge next week.

In a well played exiting game, the Terriers came away with an 18-16 win over the Falcons. The Falcons got off to a quick start behind the shooting of Courtney Spinelli (6 points) and several key steals by Brooke Litwinsky. Siobhan Coleman (2 points), Andrea Borges (2 points), and Shelby Madore (1 point) made key baskets to keep the game close.

Emily Hartigan, Marissa Reese, and Kayla Dayley played solid defense and hustled up and down the court.

Hayley Malone (5 points) made some key free throws down the stretch to keep the game within reach but the Terriers came away with a well deserved win. Great year Falcons.

Waves 10 vs. Crusaders 23

The Waves played awesome in their first playoff game with a win against the Crusaders. Kimberly Fairweather was on "FIRE" scoring 20 pts. Taryn Temmallo scored 8 pts., Hayley Austin (4 pts.), Krista Petrone (4 pts.), Tiffanie Marsh (2 pts.), and Kaylyn Michaud (2 pts.).

Nice teamwork as well by Christina Marshall, Shannon Mackey, and Kimberly Brekalis. Good job to both teams! Good Luck Waves.

Scoring for the Crusaders were Taylor Marshall (13 pts.), Taylor Hughes, Rachel Taylor, Taylar Tirrell and Stephanie Fronduto (2 pts. each), and Katelyn Hirsh and Meaghan McLaughlin each chipped in with a foul shot.

Tar Heels 17, Jayhawks 16

The Tar Heels held on in a nail biter against a spirited Jayhawks team. Leanne Tucker (7pts.), Liz Connolly (5 pts.), Ashley Berquist (4 pts.) and Kristi Hiltz (1 pt.) all scored for the Tar Heels, Alyssa Kelly was the defensive star of the game. Congrats to the Jayhawks on a good season!

Great game by all. Hard fought game by both teams, which went to the wire and was won by a hardshooting Tar Heels team. Scoring for the Jayhawks were Sarah Hogan (6 pts.), Katelyn Doherty (4 pts.), Alyssa Guida, Denali Murphy and Corie Farley (2 pts. each). Defensive player of the game was Denali Murphy.

Great season, girls! Thanks, Coach Hogan.

Cougars 27, Wolverines 17

Super hustle from Gina Papageorgiou (9 pts.) kept the Cougars moving fast and forward. Excellent passing from guards Natalie Starliper (8 pts.) and Nicole Pellegrini (7 pts.) kept the Cougars in constant scoring position. Alyssa Martucci (3 pts.), Kristen Mader and Emily Fugate proved to be tough rebounders.

The Cougars were 5-of-8 from the foul line, which is a new team record! Kristen Mader was named defensive player of the game. Congratulations Cougars for making it to the Final Four!

The Wolverines started the game tough and holding the

Wizards defeat Raptors in Tewksbury Senior League girls basketball play

Ragucci, Allison Doyle, Erin Bradley and Maghan Ashley couldn't keep the Cougars down.

Christina Lusardi played strong defense in the key keeping the Cougars to outside shooting. Scoring for the Wolverines were Mary Ballway (10 pts.), Renee Conlin (4 pts.) and Jessie Bissett (3 pts.). Brooke Mallahan and Taylor Eloi were named defensive players of the game. A tough loss to end the season.

Senior Division

Wizards 23 vs. Raptors 13

Scoring for the Wizards were Caitlin MacNeil (7 pts.), Katelynn Moore (4 pts.), Erin Tibbetts, Allyson Trayah, Jessica Sullivan, Nicole Fleming and Amanda Fleming (2 pts. each). Scoring for the Raptors were Christine Henry (7 pts.), Callie Lyons, Marie Caprio and Paige Gumbrecht (2 pts. each).

Sonics 33, Heat 19

The Sonics came up with their best defensive effort of the season and eliminated the Heat, 33-18 in a preliminary round play-off game.

Danielle DePierro led the Sonics with 20 points, while Lauren Spencer scored five points, Nicole Post had four and Abby Pinard added two, as the Sonics protected the ball well and limited the turnovers to less than a handful.

Casey Reese, Jen Bowers, Shannon McLaughlin, Katie Conklin and Kate Herceg all played well defensively, while Abby Pinard's 10-plus rebound effort sparked the team to victory.

Scoring for the Heat were Alice Zottoli (8 pts.), Samantha Fernandez (7 pts.), Shannon Sullivan and Gina Coyle (2 pts. each).

Blazers 36, Spurs 30

The Blazers cleared their first hurdle to the Final Four by beating the Spurs. According to the official scorebook the final score was 36-30. This Blazers team again showed it's resilience as they fought off a slight Spurs comeback midway through the second half. Passing, defense, and great teamwork were the capitalizing forces in this win.

Scoring summary: Stepanie Casino (2 points), Bianco Barboza (7 points), Gigi Gajjaoui (6 points), Caitlin Defrancesco (5 points), Mariah Messina (13 points), and Nicole Adames (2 points). Defensive Players of the Game were Kayla Benvenuto and Danielle Surette. Blazers will now face a tough Pacers team on March 18. Great game, Blazers!

The Spurs met the Blazers in the first round of the playoffs Saturday. The Spurs came out hot, but just couldn't keep pace with a quick Blazers team. The Spurs all played their hearts out Saturday and should be very proud of their outstanding effort.

The team played so well together in every game and they should be very proud of themselves. The Spurs played tough in every game this season, many of which came down to the last second.

Jazz 33, Magic 27

Hats off to the refs of this fast paced and action packed game. The Jazz came out strong in the first quarter and lead 13-3 at the end of it with baskets from Kerri Capuano, Alexander Mahoney and Meaghan Flynn. There was great man to man defense by Kim Capuano, forcing many turnovers.

Equally important was the outstanding rebounding by Sara Desharnais. Brianna Miano turned in a stellar performance going 7-for-12 at the foul line and then added to it with some nice drives to the hoop. Stephanie Trant had a great defensive game today, providing great pressure and pulling down some hard rebounds.

Lauren DiCredico and Karie Judge turned in great performances as they met their defensive objectives head on. They were tasked with holding their player responsibilities in check and to prevent them from scoring. As the Magic chipped away at the score, and brought on a great press, the Jazz dug in and stepped it up another notch, to hold on for the win. Great job Jazz!

After losing to a strong Jazz team earlier in the season, the Magic girls knew they had to play well defensively to keep their playoff hopes alive. At the close of the first half, the Magic trailed an aggressive Jazz team by 15 points. The Jazz team executed a full court press right from the start of the game, which limited the Magic team from getting anything going early. However, at halftime the Magic girls dug down deep and came out as a team with a mission. They were determined to make this a game.

During the third quarter, Devan Horahan, Rachael London, Jackie Doyle, Stephanie Wogan and Kelly McInnis turned up the heat with a full court press of their own limiting the Jazz to just four points, while scoring ten to make things interesting.

Devan Horahan had a great game offensively with some nice outside shots and making all of her free throws to end the season with a season high nine points.

In the end, the Magic couldn't overcome the 1st half deficit, but continued to keep it close. Down seven points late in the fourth quarter with five seconds left on the clock, Jessica Fortier (7 pts.) brought the ball over the half court area and let the ball go to beat the buzzer with an amazing basket. It was all net! Also scoring today were Rachael London (6 pts.) and Sarah D'Agostino (5 pts.). Kelly McInnis was named defensive player of the game.

Other contributors for the Magic were Kathryn Anzuoni, Lindsay Phenix and Sarah D'Agostino. Great season Girls! Good Luck to the Jazz team!

Pacers 34, Wizards 32

In this down to the seconds game, the Pacers played with every ounce of adrenaline and energy to pull out a much needed game to continue further into the playoffs. With both teams in foul trouble and a tie score, with less than a second left, the Pacers' Jessica Joyce hit two fouls shots to win the game.

Great defense and teamwork gave this team the opportunity to pull it out in the end. In a game where every girl on both sides of the court played hard, it was an extremely well deserved win for the Pacers.

Scoring for the Pacers were Brittney Wallace and Meghan McCarthy (9 pts. each), Jessica Joyce (6 pts.), Andrea Hardy (4 pts.), Hailee Bartrum, Britnee Condon and Alex Remigio (2 pts. each). Shannon Keohane was named defensive player of the game. Congratulations, ladies!

Scoring for the Wizards were Caitlin MacNeil and Amanda Fleming (8 pts. each), Erin Tibbetts (7 pts.), Allyson Trayah (6 pts.), Katelynn Moore (2 pts.) and Nicole Fleming chipping in with a foul shot.

Sonics 45, Hornets 33

Sonic super star Danielle DePierro exploded for a league-high 35 points to lead her team to a 45-33 victory over the Hornets. The 45-point outburst by the Sonics marked their highest point total of the season and propelled the team into the March madness semi-finals. Lauren Spencer added six points, while Abby Pinard and Katie Conklin scored two each. Jen Bowers, Casey Reese and Kate Herceg played well defensively.

The win was particularly impressive considering the fact that the Sonics were playing without their second-leading scorer and most aggressive defender, Nicole Post, who was injured in the preliminary round play-off game. But as in the first game, the Sonics protected the ball well and made good decisions against a determined Hornets team.

On this day, however, the Hornets did not have an answer for Danielle DePierro, who turned in an amazing individual effort in leading her team to the win.

The Hornets played their best but could not overcome a tough Sonics team.

Solid defense for the Hornets was led by Kerry Kawalski, Alyssa Bradley, Megan Luppi and Rebecca Dooley. Scoring for the Hornets were Kelsey McLaughlin (20 pts.), Kristen Kennedy (4 pts.), Nicole Devoe (3 pts.), Ashley Maddaleni (3 pts.), Jill McCarthy (2 pts.) and Jillian Gariepy (2 pts.). Congratulations Hornets on a great season. Thanks for the memories.

Blue Angels

By PAUL FEELY

Many a young person has joined the military hoping to see the world. Not many get to see it as it whizzes by at a speed of Mach 1.7 (1,200 miles per hour).

Lieutenant Kevin Davis, a native of Pittsfield, Massachusetts who moved to Reading and graduated from Reading Memorial High School in 1992 (where he played football and was active with Civil Air Patrol) is a member of the 2006 United States Navy Blue Angels Flight Demonstration Team. As a member of the 2006 squad, Davis will travel the country and participate in shows at air bases throughout the year.

"It's an honor to be a part of this team and promoting the Navy and the military as well," said Davis in a phone interview.

The Blue Angels' mission is to enhance Navy and Marine Corps recruiting efforts and to represent the naval service to the United States, its elected leadership and foreign nations. The Blue Angels serve as positive role models and goodwill ambassadors for the U. S. Navy and Marine Corps.

A Blue Angels flight demonstration exhibits choreographed refinements of skills possessed by all naval aviators. It includes the graceful aerobatic maneuvers of the four-plane Diamond Formation, in concert with the fast-paced, high-performance maneuvers of its two Solo Pilots. Finally, the team illustrates the pinnacle of precision flying, performing maneuvers locked as a unit in the renowned, six-jet Delta Formation.

The team is stationed at Forrest Sherman Field, Naval Air Station Pensacola, Florida, during the show season. The squadron spends January through March training pilots and new team members at Naval Air Facility El Centro, California.

Upon graduating from Reading Memorial High School, Davis attended Embry Riddle Aeronautical University graduating with honors and with a Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautical Science in 1996.

Lt. Davis reported to Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola, Florida, for Officer Candidate School and aviation indoctrination in September 1996. He completed primary flight training at NAS Corpus Christi, Texas, and transferred to NAS Meridian, Mississippi, for intermediate and advanced flight training. While in Mississippi, he flew the T-2C Buckeye and TA-4J Skyhawk, and was awarded the Commodore's Battle "E" for precision bombing and selected as the Training Squadron 7 (VT 7) student of the month for April 1999. He received his wings of gold in June 1999.

Davis reported to Fighter Squadron 101 (VF 101) at NAS Oceana, Virginia, for training in the F-14 Tomcat and was named the "Top Stick" in his class. In July 2000 he reported to the VF 11 "Red Rippers" where he completed deployments aboard the aircraft carriers USS Dwight D. Eisenhower (CVN 69) and USS John F. Kennedy (CV 67). While with the "Red Rippers," he served as the Airframes/Corrosion branch officer, air-to-ground training officer and head landing signals officer. His deployments included extended operations in the North Arabian Sea and Arabian Gulf in support of Operation Enduring Freedom.

In July 2003, Lt. Davis transferred to the F/A-18 Hornet through Strike Fighter Squadron 125 (VFA 125) at NAS Lemoore, California and then reported to the Fighter Composite Squadron (VFC 12) "Omars," stationed at NAS Oceana, Virginia. While at VFC 12, Davis served as a Navy adversary pilot providing valuable air-to-air training for fleet squadrons. In December of 2004, he graduated from the United States Navy Fighter Weapons School (TOPGUN) as an adversary pilot. During his tour at VFC-12, Davis worked as the schedules officer, legal officer, FRS/SFARP officer and assistant operations officer.

Lt. Davis joined the Blue Angels in September 2005. He has accumulated more than 2,000 flight hours and 150 carrier arrested landings. His decorations include the Air Medal, Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal, and various personal and unit awards.

"When you're chosen for the Blue Angels its like rushing a fraternity," Davis said. "You have to show that you have the skills, but then you also spend a lot of time with the guys on the squad, both flying and down time, so they can see what type of person you are and if you'll gel with the rest of the squad. Then you wait and see if you get the call."

Aside from participating in the Blue Angels, Davis' military career has afforded him other opportunities not enjoyed by everyday citizens.

"During the 2004 World Series, my squadron was chosen to do the flyover in Game 3 in St. Louis," said Davis. "I knew that by the time we completed the flyover, landed, and got back to the stadium we would miss most of the game. Because my squadron leader knew I was from Boston and a huge Red Sox fan, he let me stay on the ground during the flyover, and I actually got to sit in the Red Sox dugout with the team for awhile. I was high-fiving the players after Johnny Damon hit a leadoff home run."

By joining the Blue Angels team, Davis joins a group of pilots with a long history of proud service to the United States. At the end of World War II, Chester W. Nimitz, the Chief of Naval Operations, ordered the formation of a flight demonstration team to keep the public interested in naval aviation. The Blue Angels performed their first flight demonstration less than a year later in June 1946 at their home base, Naval Air Station (NAS) Jacksonville, Florida.

"16 BLOCKS" MORE OF THE SAME

ACTORS BRUCE WILLIS AND MOS DEF on the streets of New York. Willis stars as over-the-hill NYPD detective Jack Mosley in the new cop movie 16 Blocks.

MOVIE:
"16 BLOCKS"
GRADE: **

There's not much to be said about "16 Blocks" that hasn't been said before, because there's not much in it that hasn't been seen before.

It's not exactly a remake of "Die Hard With a Vengeance," which sent cop Bruce Willis and innocent bystander Samuel L. Jackson scrambling around New York City after a terrorist, but it's definitely variation of the same action-film variety.

Bruce Willis and Mos Def are trying to get to the courthouse in "16 Blocks," an action-thriller with a plot youve seen before. Willis is determined, and Def shows lots of character.

And fans of the Die Hard franchise will be fans of this one as well.

Richard Donner may have directed "16 Blocks," but it is the sort of vehicle that steers itself.

Willis, an actor who is not afraid to be unflatteringly portrayed, plays a gray-haired, pot-bellied cop with a limp, a drinking problem and a bad reputation. And so he is on standby whenever a situation calls for a hump or a grunt. Like when, clammy and in need of a drink, he is recruited to escort a petty thief, played by Mos Def, to court to testify before a grand jury where he is a crucial witness.

If it sounds like another routine assignment, it is anything but. It turns out that someone does not want Def to testify and wanted Willis assigned precisely because he was unreliable. But instead of folding under pressure, Willis grows a spine and, under the comic encouragement of Def, a conscience.

All that stands between him and death, redemption or both are his corrupt former partner, played by David Morse - who gives a rousing performance that is greater than the role - the entire NYPD and 14 producers.

MOVIE:
"EIGHT BELOW"
GRADE: ***

"Eight Below" is a throwback to the good old days of Disney live-action entertainment. The plot centers around a heroic guide for Antarctic scientific expeditions (played by Paul Walker), who is forced by bad weather to abandon his research outpost, leaving behind his eight loyal sled dogs, out in the elements, to fend for themselves.

The majestic dogs must endure a brutal winter at the South Pole with no human help. That means scrounging for food, huddling for warmth and surviving in one of the most inhospitable environments on the planet. (Warning for the wee ones: They may not all make it.)

The audience gets to know these noble animals on a special trek with Walker's character and a NASA scientist (Bruce Greenwood) looking for a very special meteorite.

Not only does this segment make dog sledding look like a very fun way to get to work, but when disaster strikes the canines are responsible for saving their human companions.

Then comes a major storm and an early winter. There's not enough room on the plane to evacuate humans and dogs. Walker reluctantly leaves his furry friends, expecting that they will die.

But the dogs are determined to prove him wrong. They learn to hunt seagulls, dine on the carcass of a whale and do battle with a massive leopard seal who looks more like something out of the dinosaur era than a cuddly mammal.

Director Frank Marshall delivers all this with some spectacular images and respect for his animal stars. It would be easy enough to Disney-up this material by giving the dogs human voices once they are on their own, but Marshall and screenwriter David DiGilio resist the impulse. As a result, "Eight Below" is one of those rare movies that will satisfy all age groups (although some of its moments of peril will probably be too much for very young viewers).

MOVIE:
"THE MATADOR"

"The Matador" is a dark comedy about an average guy who falls under the influence of a self-described "facilitator of fatalities." The innocent man is Danny Wright (Greg Kinnear), a squeaky-clean businessman from suburban Denver who goes to Mexico City to make a pitch for his small company.

There he bumps into a fellow hotel guest, Julian Noble (Pierce Brosnan), and is immediately taken with this amusing fellow's hard-drinking, cynicism-spewing, Hawaiian-shirt-

UNFORGETTABLE: THE NAT KING COLE STORY

The remarkable life and stellar career of legendary singer Nat King Cole comes to the stage of Stoneham Theatre in Unforgettable: The Nat King Cole Story, playing Thursday, March 30 through Saturday, April 15.

Broadway star and Tony Award nominee Monroe Kent III portrays Nat King Cole, the beloved superstar whose trmendous appeal transcended the boundaries of race, culture and geography.

Behind the velvet voice of the music icon is the story of a man whose quiet strength and dignity surpassed the barriers of segregation. Written by Clarke Peters and Larrington Walker, Unforgettable follows Cole's career from his days as a jazz pianist to international star who performed at the White House for President Kennedy and a command performance for the Queen of England. This riveting one-man show pays tribute to the fascinating life of the worldwide singing sensation through anecdotes and performances of a selection of his celebrated songs.

Unforgettable plays at Stoneham theatre March 30 through April 15. Performances are Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m., with matinees Saturdays at 4 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. There will also be performances on Sunday April 2 and 9 at 6 p.m.

Tickets are $36 for adults, $32 for seniors and $18 for students (under 18 or with valid college ID), and are on sale at the Stoneham Theatre Box Office, 395 Main Street, Stoneham, online at www.stonehamtheatre.org, or by calling 781-279-2200. Box office hours are

35th annual Antiques and Collectibles Show

This year will mark a special anniversary as First Parish Congregational Church in Wakefield, Massachusetts produces its 35th annual Antiques and Collectibles show.

The show is well respected by dealers and customers from near and far and is greatly anticipated by the local community. The show will be held Friday March 24th from 5 to 9 PM and Saturday March 25th from 9 AM to 3 PM.

The church hosts approximately 35 dealers each year. The dealers are selected for the quality of their antiques and collectibles. The result is a very diverse group offering a variety of fine merchandise for all types of shoppers. There truly will be something for everyone at this show from the beginner to the experienced collector.

The Antiques Committee is pleased to welcome back Antiques By Old Mystic, known for their beautiful blue china figurines and glass vases. Other popular dealers include, Juantiques from Winchester, known for their lamps and handsome Victorian pieces.

On Friday evening, Frank Kaminski Auctions will be conducting appraisals. This is a very popular part of the show and customers are always entertained and educated as they learn about Aunt Agnes's lamp or an old piece of china. Take this opportunity to look up in the attic for lost family treasures. Items will be appraised at a cost of $5.00 per item, or 3 for $10.00.

Make sure to bring your appetite as the menu of church-prepared fare will include a hot dinner as well as sandwiches and salads. Our very popular homemade pies will be available throughout the show.

The show is a major fundraiser for the church. Admission is $6.00. Children under 12 are free and there is plenty of free parking. First Parish is the beautiful stone church at the head of Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield.

I-95 to exit #39 or #40 towards the center of Wakefield and follow signs to Church Street.

GOING FOR THE GREEN AND GOLD

Idea of the week, month, and year (Tewksbury)

"Short on cash after the holidays?" notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"Do bargain prices attract you? Looking for good books to read during the inevitable snowstorms? Great! Visit the Tewksbury Public Library and you can help yourself while helping the library."

Scheduled next for April 8 and 9, "used book sales sponsored by the Friends of the Library are held in the library's first floor meeting room.

"Used book sales are a major source of funding for the Friends' organization. The funds raised are used to support the public library. During the school year, used book sales are normally held on the first weekend of the month. No sales were held in December, however, since the Friends were making last minute preparations for December's annual Festival of Trees at the public library. Because so many residents dropped off used books while cleaning their houses for the holidays, the Friends storage facilities were bursting at the seams.

"The sale features a large selection of both fiction and non-fiction books. Some of the subject selections include cookbooks, gardening guides, biographies & autobiographies, dictionaries, travel guides and books of poetry. If you are a history aficionado or military buff, be sure to check out the special display of great books on these topics.

"The table of books on religion and spirituality contains works on a wide spectrum of world religions including Christianity, Judaism, Buddhism, Islam and others.

"Large print books will have their own cart.

"Novels have been sorted into genres such as mystery, fantasy & science fiction, and romance. If you are an ardent collector of books by best-selling authors look for special sections for Tom Clancy, Mary Higgins Clark, John Grisham, Stephen King, Nora Roberts, Lawrence Sanders, Nicholas Sparks and Danielle Steel.

"Children's books are divided by fiction and non-fiction, popular titles, picture books, and children's classics. Books for teens include paperbacks, novels and non-fiction by age group, as well as study guides and test preparation books. Planning for college? Check out the non-fiction section for helpful tips.

"In general, books are bargain priced, however, a special display of photography books and calendars are priced separately.

Healthy Lifestyles

Spring into shape and get the help your body needs

Boost your immune system

Staying healthy is a challenge and hectic schedules, work, and a lack of sleep can all negatively impact the immune system. But fortunately, there are simple steps that one can take to naturally preserve health all year long.

"The immune system is the body's warrior – it defends us daily from potential invasion or attack. Most people, however, only think about their immune system when winter arrives," says Christine Evans, Nature Made consumer education nutritionist. "But immune system support should be a year-long concern. In fact, recent studies show that approximately 35 percent of adults need immune support during early fall, winter and summer."

According to Evans, the foundations of a healthy lifestyle include eating a well-balanced diet, getting plenty of rest and exercise and supplementing with a daily multivitamin. Evans also recommends the following natural immune boosting tips:

• Get Your C's: Studies show that vitamin C is critical for proper immune system function. It is found in citrus fruits and vegetables such as green and red peppers, tomatoes and spinach. Can't get enough fresh fruits and vegetables? Try Nature Made Vitamin C - the tablets are now smaller and easier to swallow.

• Don't Smoke: Smoking and even secondhand smoke negatively impact the immune system. Smoking dries nasal passages and paralyzes cilia, the delicate hairs in the nose and lungs that help to keep germs from entering the body.

• Try Herbs: Science has shown that Echinacea, garlic and Andrographis paniculata one of Sweden's top-selling herbs, help stimulate the body's natural defenses. But you don't have to travel to Sweden to try this herb - just pick up a box of Nature's Resource Tri-Mune, which also contains immune-boosting Echinacea, vitamin C and zinc.

• Stay Hydrated: Drink at least 64 ounces of water daily. Green tea, milk and low-sugar juice are also good choices.

• Reduce Alcohol Intake: Alcohol consumption decreases the liver's ability to filter toxins from the body.

• Wash Your Hands: Send germs down the drain by washing with soap and warm water for at least twenty seconds. Wash after touching your eyes, nose, mouth, doorknobs, keyboards and other shared items.

For more information, on natural immune boosters, go online and visit www.NatureMade.com

Elder lecture on March 23

The Winchester Council on Aging will sponsor a "Health Care: Securing Your Future" program on Thursday, March 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Jenks Center, 109 Skillings Road, Winchester.

It will address the many and varied issues which go into planning and preparing for long term care.

The morning sessions will address the pros and cons of staying at home or going to an institution, the resources which exist for these options and the expectations the public can have of them. It will also address how to pay for care and the rights and responsibilities of patients, families and caregivers.

A box lunch will be served for $6.

There is no charge for the program. Call to pre-register for this event at 781-721-7136.

SPORTS SHORTS

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA Which team has won the most NCAA men's basketball titles? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•WILMINGTON'S LAUREN RAPPOLI, a sophomore members of the Stonehill College softball team, hit a two-out RBI single in the bottom of the seventh inning to help late the winning run, as the Skyhawks picked up their first win of the season over C.W. Post

•KIM O'DONNELL, who competes at Level 10 for Gymnastics & More in Woburn, attended the Little Bigger Invitational Gymnastics Meet, which was held on Saturday, February 25, 2006. Kim, who is from READING, placed fifth all around with a score of 35.400. She also placed fifth on both floor (9.000) and balance beam (8.800) and sixth with an 8.800 on both vault and uneven bars.

•WINCHESTER'S JOHN NEWHALL, a senior defenseman for the Trinity College men's ice hockey team, nearly scored but was denied by a great save in the NESCAC Championship Semifinals as Trinity was defeated 3-1 by Bowdoin. He finished out his season with a goal and six assists. Over the course of his career, Newhall played in 94 games, had five goals and 28 assists for 33 points.

• WAKEFIELD'S DEBORAH SPILLANE is a sophomore member of the Boston College women's hockey team. During her freshman year she: Played in all 34 games; led the team in points, goals and assists; scored 19 goals and added 17 assists for 36 total points; named to the preseason All-USCHO Rookie Team; only rookie among Hockey East teams to receive this preseason accolade and first time a BC freshman was honored on a preseason team; assisted in three goals against Wayne State University (Oct. 17), which tied for a season high in a game; named Hockey East Rookie of the Week (Nov. 2).

•READING'S MICHAEL OTTARIANO, a junior forward on the Trinity College men's ice hockey team, had a goal and an assist in 12 games this past season.

•Need some help on this week's trivia question? The answer is not Duke.

•Freshman forward CHRIS POWERS OF LYNNFIELD had three goals and 10 assists for 13 points as a member of the Trinity College men's ice hockey team.

•STONEHAM HIGH VARSITY HOCKEY COACH BILL SEABURY will soon be a member of the Stoneham High School Hall of Fame. Seabury retired two years ago from teaching physical education at the Stoneham schools and also recently stepped down as the SHS golf coach, but serves as the varsity hockey coach and the baseball coach at Stoneham High. A member of both the Massachusetts State Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame and the Massachusetts State Hockey Coaches Hall of Fame, Seabury has a career record of 406 wins and 213 losses - including a Division II State Title in 1995. The Third Class Inducted into the Stoneham High School Athletic Hall of Fame will be honored at an induction ceremony at the Montvale Plaza on Saturday, April 1 at 7 p.m. For more information about the inductees or to purchase tickets or tables for the ceremony, please call the Stoneham High School Athletic Department at 781-279-3806.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The UCLA Bruins have won 11 NCAA Division I Basketball Championships including seven straight from 1967 to 1973.

•DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net or mail it to: Paul Feely Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Defend yourself from the flu

Hoping to avoid the sniffles, sneezes, watery eyes and sleepless nights this winter? One way to do so is by building up a strong immune system. It will go a long way in fending off colds and the flu. The natural way to fortify your body is with antioxidants. According to Richard Podell, M.D., clinical professor at New Jersey's Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, recent research indicates that taking a nutritional supplement may help cut winter flu outbreaks in half.

Italian medical researchers gave 130 men and women an immune-stimulating nutrient, N-acetyl cysteine (NAC). That winter, those volunteers fared considerably better against Mother Nature, exhibiting only half the amount of serious flu symptoms and other viral illnesses compared to men and women who took a placebo. This is thanks to NAC increasing the body's reserves of glutathione, an important immune-system stimulant and antioxidant.

The Green Turtle Bay Vitamin Co., the leading producer of probiotic-powered supplements since 1992, has two powerful partners in its defensive line: PowerVites energy complex without stomach-irritating iron, and the herbal antioxidant PowerMate, which contains NAC and glutathione, as well as other immune-boosting herbs. Both formulas contain a lactobacilli base which aids in nutrient absorption and decreases bad bacteria proliferation. For more information about Green Turtle Bay's stomach-friendly supplements, call (800) 887-8535, write P.O. Box 642, Summit, N.J. 07901, or visit www.EnergyWave.com.

United States Navy Blue Angels

From S-1

Only two months later on August 25, 1946, the Blue Angels transitioned to the Grumman F8F Bearcat and one year later, the 1947 team, led by Lt. Cmdr. Robert Clarke, introduced the now famous "Diamond Formation."

On November 8, 1986, the Blue Angels completed their 40th anniversary year during ceremonies unveiling their present aircraft, the new sleek McDonnell Douglas F/A-18 Hornet, the first dual-role fighter/attack aircraft now serving on the nation's front lines of defense.

In 1992 more than one million people viewed Blue Angel's performances during a 30-day European deployment to Sweden, Finland, Russia, Romania, Bulgaria, Italy, the United Kingdom and Spain. This was the first European deployment in 19 years.

The 2005 show season brought out more than 17 million spectators.

The 2006 show schedule features two area performances where locals can go out and see Lt. Davis and the team perform - June 24 - 25 at Barnes ANGB, Westfield, Massachusetts; and September 30 in Nantucket, Massachusetts.

CALL 617-54-ADOPT - WWW.MAREINC.ORG
Once a month Middlesex East will publish a profile of a child that is looking for a home.
If you can help please call or e-mail the MARE agency.

Meet Nichelle

Nichelle is a caring and sensitive girl who is hoping to belong in a family who will appreciate her unique qualities. Creative and imaginative, she speaks of wanting to be an inventor when she grows up. Nichelle is shy at first with new people, but is inquisitive and conversational once she gets comfortable.

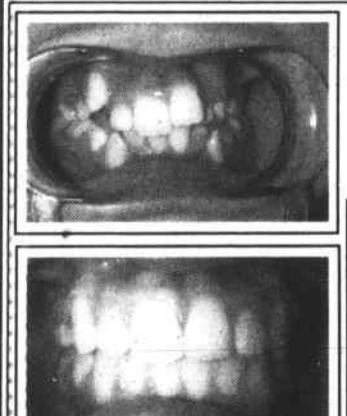

Of Caucasian and Latino descent, 13-year-old Nichelle is making good progress in the eighth grade. Math is one of her strongest subjects, and she also does well with arts and crafts and other hands-on activities. She loves to read and fantasies; the Harry Potter series and the Chronicles of Narnia are her favorites. Nichelle loves animals and benefited from her participation in a therapeutic horsemanship program.

Nichelle receives special education services at school and will continue to gain from one-on-one attention and positive feedback to boost her self-confidence. Due to the trauma in her past, Nichelle attends weekly therapy. Over time, Nichelle's social skills have improved. She takes pride in being an individual and not conforming to her peers.

Legally free for adoption, Nichelle will do best in a home as an only child or with older sisters. Nichelle is a thoughtful young girl who wants the love of a permanent family. She will need a family who can be patient and allow her to build trust at her own pace. Nichelle will prosper from a calm household to help her move beyond her past and look ahead to a bright future.

To learn more about Nichelle, or about adoption in general, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange at 617-54-ADOPT (542-3678) or 1-800-882-1176. You can also read about other waiting children in the MARE Photolisting® located at many public libraries in the state, or visit the MARE Web site at www.mareinc.org.

Brick-front colonial home

This meticulously maintained brick-front colonial located in Sanborn Village offers many updates not found in most newer homes.

This residence features hardwood flooring, a step-down fireplaced family room, while the kitchen features a triple Anderson atrium door leading to an awning-covered patio and private yard.

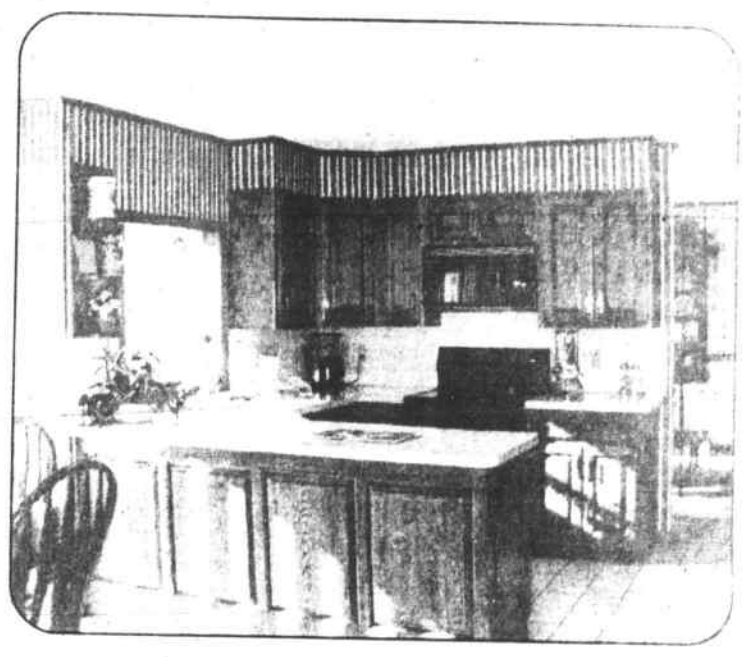

A step-down fireplaced family room, a huge living room, formal dining room, first floor bathroom and separate laundry room round off the first floor of this fabulous home.

The second floor features a front-to-rear master bedroom suite, featuring fireplace, a bathroom with whirlpool and shower, along with a walk-in closet. Three additional bedrooms and a nicely sized foyer are also featured on the second level.

This home also has a finished basement with kitchen and full bath, as well as a heated two-car garage for the car enthusiast, and other amenities such as central air conditioning, central vacuuming and outdoor sprinkler system.

A short walk to the new Wood End Elementary School in Reading, this home is priced at $809,900.

To schedule an appointment to view this property, call Kevin Coughlin at Boardwalk Real Estate at [illegible] 7820, extension 242.

A safe home is no accident

If you've been injured in an accident inside your home, you're not alone. Approximately ten million unintentional home injuries were reported to American emergency rooms over the past seven years. Falls are the leading form of home injury, with about 3.8 million reported during that period.

The cost is high, in both suffering and expense. Statistics show that one recent five-year period, unintentional home injuries cost society an average of $220 billion each year in medical costs.

The good news is that with a little foresight many of these accidents can be prevented. To make everyone more aware that home safety is a 365-day-a-year job, Easter Seals and the professionals at Century 21 Real Estate LLC have worked on ways on which to make the home a safe home.

A sign that home safety has become more important is that accessible homes have become a growing trend among homebuyers. This becomes easier to understand given the fact that there are more than 54 million Americans with disabilities and taking into account the potential functional limitations of an aging generation of Baby Boomers.

Representatives at Easter Seals and professionals at Century 21 Real Estate LLC point out that today's accessible homes incorporate elevated front pathways, elevators disguised at regular closets, open floor plans, modern bathrooms with easy-to-access showers and baths, and efficient kitchens and home offices.

The defining features that makes a house a safe home and accessible to individuals with disabilities can also have a positive effect on a home's value, beauty and resale value and price. These are just a few of the benefits that homebuyers and homeowners can appreciate when it comes to a safe home.

For more information on how to make your home safer and better accessible, go online and visit www.EasterSeals.com/easyaccess.

Towns From S-3

"Generous local residents donate used books throughout the year. Library staff members sort through them to determine which items will be added to the library's collections, which items will be held aside for the monthly book sales sponsored by the Friends, and which items are candidates for give-away carts during the summer.

"Books to be added to the Library's collection must meet the general selection criteria for materials as delineated in the Library's Collection Development Policy. These policy guidelines can be found on the Library's website www.tewksburypl.org/general/collectionpolicy.htm...."

Matty in the p.m. (Reading)

"A large crowd of residents gathered outside Wayside Bazaar on Main Street to greet Matt Siegel with co-host Billy Costa," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Siegel is a former Reading resident and host of the 'Matty in the Morning' show on KISS 108 FM. Siegel was on a day-long caravan through 25 cities and towns in Massachusetts to celebrate the 25th anniversary of his show on local airwaves. At each stop he did a short on-air live broadcast, lasting about 10 minutes. While at Wayside Bazaar he talked about Reading, saying he 'never should have left this town,' and crowed about how good the chicken pies are at Harrows."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

Slender Sherbrooke has immense charm

By Associated Designs

The Sherbrooke brings to mind a European or Cape Cod cottage. And despite its immense charm, the home fits neatly on a fairly narrow city lot.

Interior square footage is much more generous than you might suspect. Close to 2,000 square feet of living space is spread out over three levels, and the basement adds another 900 square feet.

Designed with only one bedroom, this plan is ideal for empty nesters, or a single who appreciates having plenty of room to spread out. With its large walk-in closet, the second-story home office could double as a guest bedroom. The basement recreation room could also be converted to sleeping areas, if needed. It has two slender side windows, plus French doors with sidelights and a wide transom.

From the entry deck, half a flight up from the ground, you enter the main floor by stepping into a sunny, vaulted great room with a wide window bay. French windows fill most of three walls that face the street at a diagonal. This bright area is open to a dining room, which is partially separated from the kitchen by a raised eating bar.

A wood stove nestles into an alcove by the windows. Wide sliding doors lead into a skylit, vaulted sunroom, where another set of sliders links to a vaulted, covered deck which could be screened.

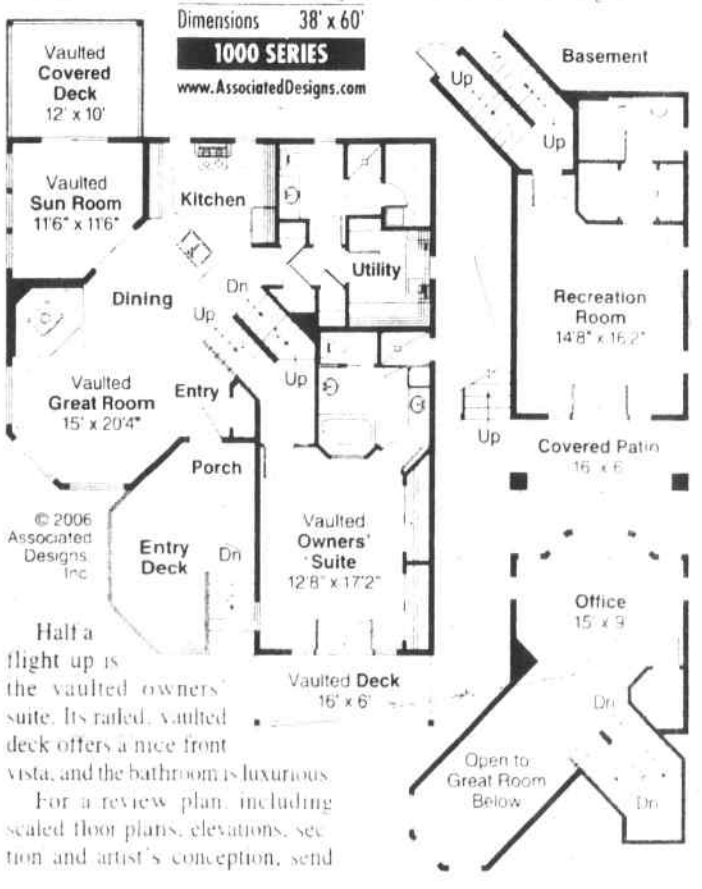

The Sherbrooke's utility room, pantry, linen and broom closets are just off the kitchen, as is a full bathroom with a built-in sauna.

Sherbrooke
PLAN 30-371

Main Floor	1188 sq.ft.
Sun Room	130 sq.ft.
Rec Room	400 sq.ft.
Second Floor	222 sq.ft.
Living Area	1940 sq.ft.
Basement	918 sq.ft.
Dimensions	38' x 60'

Half a flight up is the vaulted owners' suite. Its railed, vaulted deck offers a nice front vista, and the bathroom is luxurious.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please specify the Sherbrooke 30-371 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring more than 550 home plans is available for $15. Movies from S-2

wearing approach to life. (There's a priceless scene of Julian striding through a crowded hotel lobby on his way to the pool clad only in black Speedo swim briefs, black sunglasses, black shoes and black socks.)

The two get along famously, though Julian is coy about his line of work.

"You a spy, something like that?" Danny prods while they're watching a bullfight. At that point Julian reveals that he's a contract killer, a guy who's sent all over the world to eliminate people who need eliminating.

Danny is pretty sure Julian is joking. At least he hopes so. On the other hand, it would be kind of cool to have an assassin for a buddy.

One of the clever notions concocted by writer-director Richard Shepard is that with Danny, a man with no killer instinct, and Julian, a bottom-feeding loner who seems never to have experienced everyday normalcy, each has what the other needs.

Just how sticky that can be is developed in the film's second act, when many months later a desperate Julian shows up at the home of Danny and his wife (Hope Davis). The killer laments that he has lost his nerve. He has fumbled one hit, and if he doesn't pull off the next flawlessly he'll be the next victim.

What's a friend to do? Danny decides to accompany Julian on his next job so that he can boost the doubting killer's confidence with lots of pep talks. But here's the big question: If Julian freezes again, will Danny pull the trigger for him?

GARDENING FOR ALL IN WAKEFIELD

Wakefield Community Education is offering a 6 week gardening class on Mondays from March 27 to May 8 from 7 - 9 p.m. at the W.H.S. Room 1307. Fee is $48

This course will cover how to have flowers blooming in your backyard from the first signs of spring to the first snow. For additional information or to register call 781-246-6444

GILL TO DEMONSTRATE WATERCOLORS.

The Lynnfield Art Guild (LAG) proudly continues its 42nd season with a watercolor painting demonstration by acclaimed musician/artist Tom Gill. The demonstration, which begins at 7 p.m. on Thursday, March 16, will be held at the Lynnfield Senior Center, 525 Salem Street, Lynnfield.

Doors open at 6:45 and refreshments will be served. Tom Gill has been painting since the age of ten, but only began a professional career at the age of 28, after a career as a rock musician. He studied at the Art Institute of Boston and quickly developed his own style expressing his emotions with his paintings, often in acrylics.

He is a known entertaining teacher at many New England art associations. Tom paints daily, except when he is out taking photographs for later inspiration for his art. Some of his paintings can be seen on the website: creativeartist.com. Tom has a studio in Lowell.

The LAG has more than 225 members from over 25 area communities. President Chris Talbot and the Guild Board look forward to welcoming new members. For further information call 781-334-7145.

NO. READING WINE AND FOOD SOCIAL

The 5th annual Wine and Food Social will be held on Friday, March 24th at the Hillview Country Club, 149 North Street in North Reading. The time is 6:30-9:30 p.m. and the cost is $40 per person (includes wine and food.)

Come to a social evening of wine and food tasting. This year it's featuring wines from around the world. It is also featuring this year for the discerning beer drinkers a tasting of imported and microbrew beers.

Add in the culinary tasting of 12 regional restaurants and the night becomes a special evening you don't want to miss.

Call for additional information or if you are interested in becoming a sponsor, donating an item for the the silent auction, or volunteering to help with the event. Please contact the North Reading Parks and Recreation office at 978-664-6016.

Proceeds benefit the Ipswich River Park Development Fund.

FREE PEABODY MUSEUM LECTURE AND RECEPTION

The Peabody Museum presents a lecture on photography and Korea in the early part of the 19th century. The renowned photographer Henri Cartier-Bresson wrote that the camera for him was "an instrument of intuition and spontaneity."

This lecture examines the effects of photography in figuratively collapsing time and space, and connecting forgotten pasts and remembered futures within the context of modern Korean history from 1900 to 1953 through the metaphor of the tesseract.

The lecture accompanies an exhibit currently on view at the Peabody Museum, "Reconfiguring Korea: Roger Marshutz's Photographs of Pusan, 1952-1954."

The lecture will be held at the Yenching Institute, Harvard University, 2 Divinity Ave., Cambridge. Reception follows in the Peabody Museum, 11 Divinity Ave. The event will be held Wednesday, March 22 at 5:30 p.m.

Service Professionals

– We Will Train –

One of New England's most successful service companies since 1945, Modern Pest Services seeks conscientious, quality-minded person to deliver proven pest management solutions to our commercial and residential clients. Experience in our industry is not required. Our Training Specialists will focus personal attention on you, helping you become an expert in pest management.

Following your training you will receive your own territory with your own clients. You will be responsible for helping your clients protect their health and property. They will count on you for expert service and advice. You will be working independently, from your company vehicle, leaving from and returning to Woburn each day. You will need to be organized and attentive to detail. If you want to be responsible for providing a valued, exceptional service, you should be talking with us!

So, if you seek a rewarding, life-long career, with a successful, professional company where your opinion matters, contact us today!

Modern is an EOE. Women are encouraged to apply.

JOB REQUIREMENTS:
You will be traveling on your own from home to home and from business to business so a valid driver's license and a clean driving record is required. As you will be dealing directly with clients, strong communication skills are also needed.

SALARY:
$35,000 – 40,000 per year.

EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS:
A high school diploma is required. However, previous pest control experience is not necessary, we prefer to train.

BENEFITS:

- Competitive Wages
- Bonus Opportunity
- Paid Holidays
- Vacation Package
- Medical Insurance
- Dental Insurance
- 401(k) Retirement Plan
- Personal Time
- Company Vehicle
- Free Uniforms
- Paid Training
- Advancement Opportunities
